Janet Hibbs, Dr. Anthony Rostain, 2024-03-26 A clear eyed optimistic guide for parents with adult children who need help navigating the challenges to launching an independent life Times were already tough for young adults looking for ways to start living independent lives after high school and college rents were up wages were down student loan debt was burdensome then the Covid 19 pandemic hit A generation of young people were forced out of their classrooms jobs and social lives returning home to live with their parents Now many of these young adults carry the scars of the internal pandemic with increased anxiety and depression poor coping and the uncertainty of how to restart their lives

Parents want to help but the old rules of advice giving can clash with the need to respect their child's autonomy In You're Not Done Yet two leading adolescent and young adult mental health experts provide a practical and compassionate path to parents combatting the worry and frustrating isolation many feel when supporting their twentysomethings Hibbs and Rostain explain when and how developmental markers changed and invite parents and young adults to learn new more effective ways of communicating with each other Part I of the book covers the new normal of young adulthood with its educational and career changes The new normal of parent child relationship asks us to rethink our shoulds and in the process develop a closer relationship based on talking and listening to understand each other rather than being right Part II addresses the common and challenging problems that arise when mental illness creates a drag on a young adult's progress and shows how parents may be engaged in their child's treatment Packed with helpful information and step by step guides to specific problems this book will be an invaluable resource for parents and their twentysomething children Cold War Workers

Isabel Campbell, 2025-04-15 When Canada sought to protect its borders and aid its allies during the Cold War many people were recruited to build the emerging security state as construction and maintenance workers engineers members of the armed forces medical researchers and research subjects Security work transformed the lives of individuals families and communities in ways that were both predictable and surprising and both beneficial and harmful the militarization and colonization of Indigenous lives and lands was especially disruptive The opening essays of Cold War Workers intimately portray the complicated effects of Cold War labour upon Indigenous lives Elmer Sinclair a residential school survivor and member of the Canadian Armed Forces achieved equality with white men through his militarized masculinity His more positive professional experience contrasts with those of Indigenous workers on northern radar lines many of whom lost languages connections to the land and other elements of traditional cultures as they sought new skills and better employment Diverse Indigenous experiences of Cold War security work set the scene for the second set of essays which explore the impact of security preoccupations on marginalized groups the study of extreme isolation through scientific experimentation on human subjects the targeting of gay men with psychiatric labelling to enforce an idealized masculinity and the restriction of gender mobility in the Canadian military and the pushback from servicewomen Cold War Workers raises questions about the influence of settler colonial masculine institutional values on those who laboured for the Cold War state and society By comparing the experiences of different types of workers families and communities this volume reveals how race gender and privilege affected people in varied and sometimes unexpected ways Biennial Report of the Trustees of the Connecticut Agricultural College at Storrs, Conn Connecticut Agricultural College, Storrs, Conn, 1924 Hearst's International
