The text covers topics such as the theory and practice of controlled drug delivery from bioerodible polymers, biodegradable drug delivery systems from aliphatic polyesters and the applications of osmotic drug delivery. Also covered are topics such as the application of polymers for the sustained release of macromolecules, controlled transdermal delivery and the use of hydrogel devices for the controlled release of steroid hormones. The book is recommended for pharmacologists and doctors who would like to know more about advancements in the field of controlled release applications and its uses in healthcare, especially in pharmacology.

Controlled Release, Biochemical Effects of Pesticides, Inhibition of Plant Pathogenic Fungi, 2012-12-06 Since the middle of the Sixties, new types of formulation for biologically active compounds have been developed which have been introduced into the literature under the term Controlled Release Formulations (CRF). Stimulated by results from former and successful pharmaceutical research which was engaged in the production of preparations with protracted effects, introduction onto the market in the year 1952 of D-amphetamine in the form of pellets coated to varying degrees with fats and waxes, 1. experiments were carried out to transfer the prolongation of effectiveness to pesticidal substances also by means of a depot formulation. Initial work was concerned with the production of protective coatings for sonar systems in marine ecosystems. By means of antifouling paints or rubber coatings containing tri-n-butyl tin oxide (TBTO), the growth of marine organisms on sonar domes, buoys and hulls in the water could be effectively prevented. 2. 3. Controlled release formulations of pesticides are defined as depot systems which continuously release their toxic constituents into the environment over a specified period of time, usually months to years. 4. According to this definition, such formulations can be successfully employed where a chronic exposure to biologically active compounds is required over a longer period. The following hypothetical example is intended to illustrate this. 5. In Fig. 1, the duration of activity of a non-persistent pesticide with a loss rate under environmental conditions of  $t_{1/2}$  15 days is graphically illustrated. Controlled Release Pesticides
