Excel Workbook Alberto Clerici, 2015-03-04T00:00:00+01:00 Excel is the most popular and widely used productivity software in all business environments and it is an irreplaceable companion in ordinary work as in the analysis of large amounts of complex data. Nevertheless the majority of users knows and uses only a very limited number of features often in an elementary way. This workbook shows in practice the use of a wide variety of formulas, functions and features like pivot tables, macros or the Solver add-in that allow to effectively and professionally work with Excel. The workbook starts with the basics and gets progressively to deal with very complex cases. It is a valuable support for college students, professionals and managers who want to learn the basics or to improve the knowledge of Excel up to an advanced level. In the dedicated web area all the initial and solved files are available to carry out the exercises and check the solutions. Over 40 exercises are commented to highlight the basic concepts and clarify the most complex ones. The authors are all lecturers for the course of Computer skills for economics at Università Bocconi in Milan: Massimo Ballerini, Alberto Clerici, Chiara Debernardi, Davide Del Corno, Maurizio De Pra, Gianluca Salvietti and Marco Sampietro.

Random Fields for Spatial Data Modeling Dionissios T. Hristopulos, 2020-02-17 This book provides an interdisciplinary introduction to the theory of random fields and its applications. Spatial models and spatial data analysis are integral parts of many scientific and engineering disciplines. Random fields provide a general theoretical framework for the development of spatial models and their applications in data analysis. The contents of the book include topics from classical statistics and random field theory: regression models, Gaussian random fields, stationarity, correlation functions, spatial statistics, variogram estimation, model inference, kriging, based prediction and statistical physics, fractals, Ising model, simulated annealing, maximum entropy.

functional integral representations perturbation and variational methods The book also explores links between random fields Gaussian processes and neural networks used in machine learning Connections with applied mathematics are highlighted by means of models based on stochastic partial differential equations An interlude on autoregressive time series provides useful lower dimensional analogies and a connection with the classical linear harmonic oscillator Other chapters focus on non Gaussian random fields and stochastic simulation methods The book also presents results based on the author's research on Spartan random fields that were inspired by statistical field theories originating in physics The equivalence of the one dimensional Spartan random field model with the classical linear damped harmonic oscillator driven by white noise is highlighted Ideas with potentially significant computational gains for the processing of big spatial data are presented and discussed The final chapter concludes with a description of the Karhunen Lo ve expansion of the Spartan model The book will appeal to engineers physicists and geoscientists whose research involves spatial models or spatial data analysis Anyone with background in probability and statistics can read at least parts of the book Some chapters will be easier to understand by readers familiar with differential equations and Fourier transforms National Mazda Stimulator General Electric Company.
