The Conversion of Constantine and Pagan Rome ... Translated by Harold Mattingly András ALFÖLDI, Harold Mattingly, Constantine I (Emperor of Rome), 1948 The Mythological Traditions of Liturgical Drama Christine Schnusenberg, 2010 This unique comprehensive work tackles questions posed by the polemics of the Church Fathers against the Roman theater and explores the subsequent developments of Western liturgical drama as a continuation of the Roman theater up to the time of Amalarius of Metz in the ninth century Constantinople Rebecca Stephens Falcasantos, 2020-06-02 As Christian spaces and agents assumed prominent positions in civic life the end of the long span of the fourth century was marked by large scale religious change Churches had overtaken once thriving pagan temples old civic priesthoods were replaced by prominent bishops and the rituals of the city were directed toward the Christian God Such changes were particularly pronounced in the newly established city of Constantinople where elites from various groups contended to control civic and imperial religion Rebecca Stephens Falcasantos argues that imperial Christianity was in fact a manifestation of traditional Roman religious structures In particular she explores how deeply established habits of ritual engagement in shared social spaces ones that resonated with imperial ideology and appealed to the memories of previous generations constructed meaning to create a new imperial religious identity By examining three dynamics ritual performance rhetoric around violence and the preservation and curation of civic memory she distinguishes the role of Christian practice in transforming the civic and cultic landscapes of the late antique polis Timeless Truth in the Hands of History Gale Heide, 2012-03-16 What is the purpose of theology for the church Systematic theology provides an inroad into this question by offering both a method for doing theology and an explanation for the purpose of that method However system is itself the product of a specific understanding of knowledge grounded in rational demonstration of facts This study attempts to address the historical debate over when systematic theology began Much of the debate is centered on the definition of system and revolves around the use or lack thereof of external philosophical categories or language Specific historical figures have been selected to serve as illustrations of how theological prolegomena functioned in works prior to and following the influence of Enlightenment thought In the early chapters it will be seen that theology was neither totally saturated with nor totally devoid of external philosophical reference points or programmatic intentions On the contrary both external points of reference and programmatic intentions have played a role in theology since the church s inception In other words certain elements of system e g logic non contradiction organization have played a role in theological investigation and construction since at least the second century The last two chapters of this study demonstrate that these may not be the same influences that have marked post Enlightenment systematics One of the primary characteristics of pre Enlightenment theology is its intentional focus on the life of the church Theology like the Scriptures was often written for specific circumstances Enlightenment influences significantly changed the intentions of much of theology in that theological knowledge was studied and displayed for the sake of knowledge itself The church no longer mattered or was at best an afterthought in the realm of what is now seen as the domain of academic theology     A History of the Early Church: From Constantine to Julian Hans Lietzmann,1958
