Transformations of the Inner Self in Ancient Religions Jan Assmann, Guy Stroumsa, 2018-11-13 This collection of papers from two workshops held in Heidelberg Germany in July 1996 and Jerusalem Israel in October 1997 is concerned with anthropological rather than theological aspects of the Near Eastern and Mediterranean religions ranging from the primary religions of the archaic period and their complex developments in Egypt and Mesopotamia to the soteriological movements and secondary religions that emerged in Late Antiquity The first part of the book focuses on Confession and Conversion while the second part is devoted to the topic of Guilt Sin and Rituals of Purification The primary purpose of this volume is to convey a sense of the dynamics and dialectical relationships between the various Near Eastern and Mediterranean religions from the archaic period to Late Antiquity

Jesus Christ in History and Scripture Edgar V. McKnight, 1999 Jesus Christ in History and Scripture highlights two related bases for the current revolution in Jesus studies 1 a critically chastened world view that is satisfied with provisional results and 2 a creative or poetic use of the sources of study of Jesus The first part of the book shows that precritical critical and postcritical epochs and attitudes all alive today support different sorts of knowledge concerning Jesus historical reconstructions historic memory and appropriations imaginative poetic and artistic creations and theological formulations and that the Gospels themselves Support different sorts of knowledge and approaches The Gospels were composed by Christians who combined historical information and historic memory in imaginative ways to present a Jesus who was relevant to their congregations as he was to the earliest disciples The creative contribution that readers of the Gospels make in their reconstructions of Jesus is a recapitulation of the creative activities of the earliest evangelists The central section of the book provides a philosophical rationale for correlating the historical critical methods of biblical scholars and the rationalist methods of theologians and for correlating these modern Enlightenment modes of knowledge with feeling lived experience and praxis It also traces the attempts to do justice to the historical Jesus with particular attention to the different philosophical and theological presuppositions supporting the different attempts A final section discusses the values of non foundationist hermeneutical approaches for the broader questions of the use and authority of the Bible In the end ecumenical rather than divisive approaches are advocated Different ways of doing church and different ways of discovering and creating truth demand an ecumenical approach Georg F. Vicedom as Missionary and Peacemaker Klaus W. Müller,2003
