Cooper's Landscapes Blake Nevius, 2023-11-15 Cooper's Landscapes An Essay on the Picturesque Vision delves into the vivid and enduring landscapes of James Fenimore Cooper's works exploring how his descriptive artistry shaped the American literary imagination This essay examines Cooper's unique ability to translate the grandeur of early 19th century America into powerful visual panoramas that resonate with readers long after the characters and plots fade Drawing on insights from European aesthetic traditions and the picturesque conventions the book highlights how Cooper's narrative settings were inspired by both his American roots and his transformative years abroad This perspective not only contextualizes his work within the broader scope of art and landscape painting but also underscores Cooper's innovative approach to crafting scenes that intertwine with the thematic elements of his storytelling The book also offers a fresh critique of Cooper's aesthetic education focusing on his mastery of landscape organization the influence of his European experiences and his application of landscape gardening principles in fiction From early romances like The Last of the Mohicans to the nuanced complexities of later works such as Wyandotté the essay reveals how Cooper's visual imagination evolved to serve his narrative ambitions By connecting Cooper's artistry to the broader Romantic movement and theories of visual perception this study illuminates the profound interplay between literature and the sister arts offering a rich framework for appreciating Cooper's enduring contributions to American cultural and literary history This title is part of UC Press's Voices Revived program which commemorates University of California Press's mission to seek out and cultivate the brightest minds and give them voice reach and impact Drawing on a backlist dating to 1893 Voices Revived makes high quality peer reviewed scholarship accessible once again using print on demand technology This title was originally published in 1976 Arts & Humanities Citation Index, 1984 A multidisciplinary index covering the journal literature of the arts and humanities It fully covers 1 144 of the world's leading arts and humanities journals and it indexes individually selected relevant items from over 6 800 major science and social science journals *Vom Klassizismus bis zum 20. These essays discuss Cooper's uses and manipulations of various literary conventions such as the picturesque the literary village sketch and domestic fiction and illuminate her positions on conservation religion and woman's place in society The engaging collection is divided into four sections The first features essays examining Cooper's work in light of her relationship with her famous literary father James Fenimore Cooper and their devotion to and cultivation of each other's careers The second focuses on Cooper's fascination with landscape and its relation to her environmental philosophies Rural Hours is the subject of the third section which presents new readings on its subtly crafted authorial stance its two complementary conceptions of time and its re valuation of rural and scientific ways of knowing The collection concludes with four works whose insights into Cooper's views on gender domesticity and environmental philosophy grow out of comparisons with several contemporary women writers These remarkable essays by both established and emerging scholars of nineteenth century literature present new findings and insights into a writer who is being reintroduced to the fields of eco criticism and American literature
