

Australian Convicts

1788

The First Fleet arrived at Botany Bay. After further inspection by Captain Arthur Phillip, it was found that the location was unsuitable as a penal colony because the harbour was unsafe and the area lacked fresh water.

Captain Arthur Phillip and the First Fleet disembarked at Port Jackson along with 751 convicts and their children and 252 marines and their families.

1790 - 1791

Two more convict fleets arrived.

1793

The first free colonists arrived. The Colony of New South Wales was officially a penal colony comprising of mainly convicts, soldiers and the wives of soldiers.

from

Convicts were seen as a source of labour and they were used to build roads, bridges and public buildings. Convicts also worked for free colonists

Convicts to Conscripts John Driscoll, Gail Reid, 1978      Convicts to Conscripts: Highlights of Australian History John DRISCOLL, 1983      Crossing the Sea Que Van Ngo, 2016-05-26 It is necessary to realize that there are only refugees who have been forced through political reasons to leave Vietnam and they are political asylum seekers Most are likely to be former military personnel and administrative officials or so of the republic of Vietnam And there are no refugees to leave their home country through economic reasons Vietnamese refugees have been living in Australia for almost thirty five years since the Vietnam War which ended on 30 04 1975 They have achieved a lot of success in various fields in the country of residence They have also contributed a lot to the receiving country so far Therefore attitudes toward them have changed significantly and greatly As I mentioned earlier absolutely no one would have left their home country for another country if they had found a genuine democracy and freedom and a free market economy in communist Vietnam Australia and its people has opened the arms widely and generously giving me a good opportunity to better rebuild my life With all my true heart I gratefully recognize the Australian humanity Even though I live in Australia I will never ever turn back to my country of birth I love my country of birth Vietnam and I am grateful to the country of residence Australia In summary as a refugee I have faced a lot of difficulties challenges and even risks to escape Vietnam However I can enjoy freedom democracy and especially new opportunities that open to me in Australia      A Global History of Convicts and Penal Colonies Clare

Anderson, 2018-05-17 Between 1415 when the Portuguese first used convicts for colonization purposes in the North African enclave of Ceuta to the 1960s and the dissolution of Stalin's gulags global powers including the Spanish Dutch Portuguese British Russians Chinese and Japanese transported millions of convicts to forts penal settlements and penal colonies all over the world A Global History of Convicts and Penal Colonies builds on specific regional archives and literatures to write the first global history of penal transportation The essays explore the idea of penal transportation as an engine of global change in which political repression and forced labour combined to produce long term impacts on economy society and identity They investigate the varied and interconnected routes convicts took to penal sites across the world and the relationship of these convict flows to other forms of punishment unfree labour military service and indigenous incarceration They also explore the lived worlds of convicts including work culture religion and intimacy and convict experience and agency      The History of Australia Frank G. Clarke, 2002-04-30 Australian history has been written for over two centuries beginning with European explorers and colonists attempting to convey something of the complexity of the strange upside down world they encountered in the southern hemisphere Of course aboriginal peoples had lived in Australia for millennia before the arrival of the whites Modern Australia has its foundations in these two cultural strands Intertwined with these are the impact of colonialism and federation indentured servitude and convict transportation the effects of El Niño on European style farming techniques gold rushes and longstanding issues of ethnicity immigration and religious tolerance Covering these topics and more this most
