Idea of Difficulty in Literature Alan Carroll Purves,1991-09-03 This book redefines the nature of textual difficulty in literature and shows the implications of the new definition for teachers at all levels of education Contrary to the traditional use of grade levels or readability formulae the authors redefine difficulty in terms of readers and the texts they meet They base their arguments on contemporary linguistic theory on historical and comparative studies of criticism on literary theory about readers and texts on post Freudian psychology on empirical research concerning the nature of reading literature and on studies of classrooms curricula and testing What emerges is a coherent work that builds a case for seeing difficulty in literature as a human phenomenon more than a textual one Human Development and the Spiritual Life Ronald R.

Multidisciplinary Perspectives on Literacy Research ,1992 The Culture of Reading and the Teaching of English Kathleen McCormick,1994 The Culture of Reading and the Teaching of English aims to do for contemporary literary and cultural theory what I A Richard s Practical Criticism did for literary formalism Kathleen McCormick analyzes current approaches to reading theory and the teaching of literary and related cultural texts She moves beyond theory with its tendency to become arcane and elitist and instead examines the cultures of reading its ideologies institutions and classroom practices She presents cognitive expressivist and culturally based approaches to reading and then considers a variety of institutional and classroom practices from the writing of formal essays to the use of textbooks This represents a crucial intervention in debates around the reformation of new curricula in schools and the politically correct classroom currently raging in both Britain and America The Culture of Reading is much more than a classroom oriented approach to contemporary literary and cultural theory Through accounts of teaching experiences student writing professional conferences and curriculum battles on both sides of the Atlantic she tells an often personal frequently amusing account of the discoveries of one teacher herself a widely published critic writer and lecturer as she finds how theory is mediated in very different institutions social contexts and classroom situations Conversational Organization and Its Development Bruce Dorval,1990 Teaching Argumentative Writing to Twelfth Grade Students Barbara Ann Beck Perushek,1999

Huot,Beth Stroble,Charles Bazerman,2004 This volume makes an important contribution to our understanding of literacy as a multi faceted complexly situated activity Contributing authors represent a wide variety of theoretical and research perspectives Each chapters provides a fresh perspective into a different site for literate behavior and relationships Freeing literacy from a specific site or set of practices allows us to see it as a way to consider the experiences memories and histories of those who use literacy to make meaning in their lives     Whitaker's Book List ,1991     Taking Time, Making Meaning Barbara Sands,1993     The Psycholinguistics of Readable Writing Alice S. Horning,1993 This book reviews research in linguistics psychology reading and writing and brings this work to bear on the problem of readable writing The research supports the theory that two factors in text are crucial to its readable quality psycholinguistic redundancy and cohesion The book also reports the results of three empirical studies and a case study that further illustrates this theory The findings have important theoretical and practical implications because they shed light on the nature of reading and writing processes from both linguistic and psychological perspectives and suggest practical approaches to the production and comprehension of readable writing The book also draws on research in second language acquisition and is pertinent to readable writing in both first and second languages     Theoretical Models and Processes of Reading Robert B.
