Estafanos, 2018-08-20 In many ways Christian education in the Presbyterian Church in Egypt was deeply influenced by public education in Egypt One of the negative consequences of such influence is the significant lack of developing and using critical thinking as a basic element of the process While multiple factors educational and theological contribute to forming it this problem manifests itself in many ways The present research deals with the lack of critical thinking as a central problematic reality of the Christian education process in the Presbyterian Church in Egypt In order to illuminate and address this problematic situation Richard Osmer's understanding of Christian education as practical theology is used to bring into dialogue American philosopher psychologist and educator John Dewey and reformer and theologian John Calvin In light of this dialogue not only the lack of critical thinking but also multiple other dimensions of the problematic situation of Christian education in the Presbyterian Church in Egypt are illuminated Lack of democracy lack of the use of experience lack of creative pedagogies lack of practical reason and lack of theology from the process are some of these dimensions Adapting Osmer's comprehensive approach to Christian education as practical theology Samy Estafanos proposes a holistic approach towards Christian education that aims at transforming education into a reconciling process Semantics and Psychology of

Hood, Jr., 2015-10-16 This book examines what people mean when they say they are spiritual It looks at the semantics of spirituality the visibility of reasons for spiritual preference in biographies in psychological dispositions in cultural differences between Germany and the US and in gender differences It also examines the kind of biographical consequences that are associated with spirituality The book reports the results of an online questionnaire filled out by 773 respondents in Germany and 1113 in the US personal interviews with a selected group of more than 100 persons and an experiment Based on the data collected it reports results that are relevant for a number of scientific and practical disciplines It makes a contribution to the semantics of everyday religious language and to the cross cultural study of religion and to many related fields as well because spirituality is evaluated in relation to personality mysticism well being religious styles generativity attachment biography and atheism The book draws attention to the new and ever changing ways in which people give names to their ultimate concern and symbolize their experiences of transcendence
