Development Ngos And The Challenge Of Change New Roles And Relevance:

New Roles and Relevance David Lewis, Tina Wallace, 2000 Examines the new roles and challenges NGOs confront as they grow beyond service delivery and advocacy Argues for engagement and more effective learning strategies at both global and local levels Written by a dynamic combination of key researchers and practitioners New Roles and Relevance examines the large range of critical challenges facing development NGOs as they struggle to maintain their integrity and independence while simultaneously assuming an expanding role in the fight against global poverty This authoritative book calls for an overall improvement in theory and practice by challenging NGOs to search for greater relevance improved accountability and better performance in the globalized world Development NGOs and the Challenge of Change David Lewis, Tina Wallace, 2003

The Challenges of Nongovernmental Organisations in Anglophone Cameroon Lotsmart N. Fonjong, 2007 It is widely recognised that non governmental organisations NGOs have undertaken an increasingly important role in both human development and environmental conservation efforts in the less developed nations during the past three decades Much of the literature on NGOs focuses on or is sponsored by large Western based international NGOs which themselves undertake or direct many of the development and conservation efforts This book cuts through sensitive subjects including government corruption and manipulation the misuse of NGOs and the limitations of small under funded local development organisations to identify the crucial role of local NGOs in the challenging context of rural development in Sub Saharan African His observations and insights are highly useful and provide important contextual understanding for future human development and environment conservation projects in rural African settings

Non-Governmental Organizations, Management and Development David Lewis, 2014-03-05 Non Governmental Development Organizations have seen turbulent times over the decades however recent years have seen them grow to occupy high profile positions in the fight against poverty They are now seen as an important element of civil society a concept that has been given increasing importance by global policy makers This book has evolved during the course of that period to be a prime resource for those working or wishing to work with and for NGOs The third edition of Non Governmental Organizations Management and Development is fully updated and thoroughly reorganized covering key issues including but not limited to debates on the changing global context of international development and the changing concepts and practices used by NGOs The interdisciplinary approach employed by David Lewis results in an impressive text that draws upon current research in non profit management development management public management and management theory exploring the activities relationships and internal structure of the NGO This book remains the first and only comprehensive and academically grounded guide to the issues facing international development NGOs as they operate in increasingly complex and challenging conditions around the world It is the perfect resource for students undertaking studies of NGOs and the non profit sector in addition to being an excellent resource for development studies students more generally

Non-Governmental Organizations and Development David Lewis, Nazneen Kanji, 2009-09-10 Non governmental organizations NGOs are high profile actors in the field of international development both as providers of services to vulnerable individuals and communities and as campaigning policy advocates This book provides a critical introduction to the wide ranging topic of NGOs and development Written by two authors with more than twenty years experience of research and practice in the field the book combines a critical overview of the main research literature with a set of up to date theoretical and practical insights drawn from experience in Asia Europe Africa and elsewhere It highlights the importance of NGOs in development but it also engages fully with the criticisms that the increased profile of NGOs in development now attracts Non Governmental Organizations and Development begins with a discussion of the wide diversity of NGOs and their roles and locates their recent rise to prominence within broader histories of struggle as well as within the ideological context of neo liberalism It then moves on to analyze how interest in NGOs has both reflected and informed wider theoretical trends and debates within development studies before analyzing NGOs and their practices using a broad range of short case studies of successful and unsuccessful interventions David Lewis and Nazneen Kanji then moves on to describe the ways in which NGOs are increasingly important in relation to ideas and debates about civil society globalization and the changing ideas and practices of international aid The book argues that NGOs are now central to development theory and practice and are likely to remain important actors in development in the years to come In order to appreciate the issues raised by their increasing diversity and complexity the authors conclude that it is necessary to deploy a historically and theoretically informed perspective This critical overview will be useful to students of development studies at undergraduate and masters levels as well as to more general readers and practitioners The format of the book includes figures photographs and case studies as well as reader material in the form of summary points and questions Despite the growing importance of the topic no single short up to date book exists that sets out the main issues in the form of a clearly written academically informed text until now

Adventures in Aidland David Mosse, 2011-04-01 Anthropological interest in new subjects of research and contemporary knowledge practices has turned ethnographic attention to a wide ranging variety of professional fields Among these the encounter with international development has perhaps been longer and more intimate than any of the others Anthropologists have drawn critical attention to the interfaces and social effects of development s discursive regimes but oddly enough have paid scant attention to knowledge producers themselves despite anthropologists being among them This is the focus of this volume It concerns the construction and transmission of knowledge about global poverty and its reduction but is equally interested in the social life of development professionals in the capacity of ideas to mediate relationships in networks of experts and communities of aid workers and in the dilemmas of maintaining professional identities Going well beyond obsolete debates about pure and applied anthropology the book examines the transformations that occur as social scientific concepts and practices cross and re cross the boundary between anthropological and policy making knowledge

Renewing Development in Sub-Saharan Africa Ian Livingstone, D. G. R. Belshaw, 2002 After two decades of economic reform programmes the majority of countries in Sub Saharan Africa still face the challenge of renewing the development progress that they were achieving in the 1960s and early 1970s Promising beginnings in the post independence countries ended in economic collapse in the 1980s This led to stabilization and structural adjustment reforms but these have had disappointing results in most of the countries that applied them In addition local scale inter country conflicts and internal strife within the region and post war complications have generated new problems This volume reviews the ensuing debates and brings together specialist contributions to provide a clear guide to the major complexities of African development A foundation is laid for designing a range of individual country specific policy sets in which the strategic components are prioritized according to each country s constraints and opportunities NGO Management Alan Fowler, Chiku Malunga, 2020-09-23 The task environment of NGOs is changing rapidly and significantly making new demands on their management and leadership This Companion discusses the complexities involved It illustrates how NGOs can maintain performance and remain agile amidst increasing uncertainties These factors include the position of NGOs in civil society their involvement in governance and coping with the effects of the securitisation of international aid Complementing The Earthscan Reader in NGO Management selected contributions and specially commissioned pieces from NGO thought leaders and practitioners provide the reader with insights on the emerging thinking competences and practices needed for success in managing and leading tomorrow s NGOs Handbook on Development Policy and Management Colin H. Kirkpatrick, Ron Clarke, Charles Polidano, 2002 Table of contents Forum for Development Studies, 2006 □□□□□□□□□□, 2004 Knowledge, Power and Development Agendas Emma Mawdsley, 2002 Knowledge Power and Development Agendas explores how southern NGOs can have more of a voice in determining the work they actually do and how they can get more of their ideas on to the international development agenda It reports recommendations for overcoming challenging or bypassing information loops on funding ideas and networks The Response of U.S.-based Non-governmental Development Organizations to Inequitable Land Tenure in Latin America William Mark Van Lopik, 2002 Planning, Monitoring and Evaluation in Development Organisations John De Coninck, 2008-04-18 Effective planning monitoring and evaluation PME is essential for organisational survival and for sustainable development but remains a challenge for many development organisations in spite of countless workshops manuals and intervention of experts This book presents real life experiences of 20 PME trainers and facilitators from Africa Asia and Europe and offers suggestions for effective PME support processes with a focus on civil society organisations The authors seek to embrace a total organisation approach to PME one that looks at an organisation in its entirety including its financial dimension its environment its collaborators and competitors in a context informed by local and national cultures Role and Effectiveness of Bangladesh Civil Service in Achieving Millennium Development Goals, 2008* The Paradox of NGO-State Relations Kimberly A.
