Developing Media Literacy in Cyberspace Julie D. Frechette, 2002-07-30 By joining bodies of research in media theory cultural studies and critical pedagogy Developing Media Literacy in Cyberspace offers a vision of learning that values social empowerment over technical skills An inquiry into the existence and range of models equipped to cultivate critical teaching and learning in the Internet supported classroom this new study argues that media literacy offers the best long term training for today's youth to become experienced practitioners of 21st century technology Author Julie Frechette helps educators develop and provide concrete learning strategies that enable students to judge the validity and worth of what they see on the Internet as they strive to become critically autonomous in a technology laden world Part of this effort lies in developing a keen awareness of the institutional political and economic structure of the Internet as a means of communication that is increasingly marketing products and targeting advertisements toward youth Values on the Internet are discussed constantly both by the major media and by the private sector with little regard for the pervasive interests and authority of profitable industries staking out their territory in this new global village Unlike other studies that provide a broad sociohistorical context for the development of theoretical uses of new technologies in the classroom Developing Media Literacy in Cyberspace lays the groundwork for establishing critical thinking skills that will serve students interests as they navigate this vast and complicated cyberterritory

Media Literacy Education in China Chi-Kim Cheung, 2016-01-12 The Chinese government has long kept tight control on both traditional and new media to prevent potential challenges to its authority But for better or worse China has now reached a stage where it is difficult to exercise political hegemony through laws and regulations and the control of the mass media China has become a global superpower and in 2011 surpassed Japan as the world's second largest economy second only to the USA China's entertainment industry is also flourishing and the market is large enough to attract foreign investors that either view China as an important market or are interested in Chinese capital Today more children in China watch television than in any other country in the world and Internet usage is also increasing making the implementation of media literacy education an important issue This book presents the prevailing perspectives on media literacy education in China and describes how the current curriculum reform for implementing media literacy education is being developed It will not only stimulate debate and further research but will also influence policy decisions regarding media literacy education in China International Handbook of Children, Media and Culture Kirsten Drotner, Sonia Livingstone, 2008-02-19 This essential volume brings together the work of internationally renowned researchers each experts in their field in order to capture the diversity of children and young people's media cultures around the world Why are the media such a crucial part of children's daily lives Are they becoming more important more influential and in what ways Or does a historical perspective reveal how past media have long framed children's cultural horizons or perhaps how families however constituted have long shaped the ways children relate to media In addressing such questions the contributors present detailed empirical cases to uncover how children weave together diverse forms and technologies to create a rich symbolic tapestry which in turn shapes their social relationships At the same time many concerns even public panics arise regarding children's engagement with media leading the contributors also to inquire into the risky or problematic aspects of today's highly mediated world Deliberately selected to represent as many parts of the globe as possible and with a commitment to recognizing both the similarities and differences in children and young people's lives from China to Denmark from Canada to India from Japan to
