Developing Ones Brother Good Intentions Unnatural Practices:

The Routledge Handbook of Global Development Kearrin Sims, Nicola Banks, Susan Engel, Paul Hodge, Jonathan Makuwira, Naohiro Nakamura, Jonathan Rigg, Albert Salamanca, Pichamon Yeophantong, 2022-01-31 This Handbook provides a comprehensive analysis of some of the world's most pressing global development challenges including how they may be better understood and addressed through innovative practices and approaches to learning and teaching. Featuring 61 contributions from leading and emerging academics and practitioners, this multidisciplinary volume is organized into five thematic parts exploring changes in global development financing, ideologies, norms, and partnerships; interrelationships between development, natural environments, and inequality; shifts in critical development challenges and new possibilities for positive change. Collectively, the handbook demonstrates that global development challenges are becoming increasingly complex and multi-faceted and are to be found in the Global North as much as the South. It draws attention to structural inequality and disadvantage alongside possibilities for positive change. The Handbook will serve as a valuable resource for students and scholars across multiple disciplines including Development Studies, Anthropology, Geography, Global Studies, Indigenous and Postcolonial Studies, Political Science, and Urban Studies. The Introduction of this book is freely available as a downloadable Open Access PDF at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> under a Creative Commons Attribution-NonCommercial-NoDerivatives CC BY-NC-ND 4.0 license.

Mainstreaming Alternative Development in Thailand, Lao PDR and Myanmar Ronald D. Renard, 2008

Development Professionals in Northern Thailand Katharine Islay McKinnon, 2011

Development promises higher incomes, better livelihoods, social justice, and emancipation, but decades of good intentions have left hill communities in Northern Thailand with high rates of drug addiction and poverty and a loss of traditional knowledge and values. A former volunteer and development specialist who spent much of her childhood in the region, Katharine McKinnon set out to consider what has gone wrong by studying professionals involved in development work. How, she asks, did the highlands come to be seen as needing development? And why did the presence of well-intentioned developers still leave behind so much apparent misery and hardship? Returning to the region to conduct an ethnography of development professionals, McKinnon found that the majority were dedicated to ideals of altruism, emancipation, and advocacy for local people and resigned to the inevitable failures and shortcomings that emerge when development efforts are co-opted by geopolitics. Her book is an account of the everyday efforts and struggles of those who do development: consultants, researchers, government officials, NGO workers, and village partners. Taking a critical approach to post-development theory, she argues that politics and ideology are an intrinsic part of development work and argues that an active engagement with the politics of development is essential for professionals hoping to make a difference.
