Doing Rude Things The History Of The British Sex Film 1957-1981:

The British Film Industry in the 1970s S. Barber, 2013-01-22 Is there more to 1970s British cinema than sex horror and James Bond This lively account argues that this is definitely the case and explores the cultural landscape of this much maligned decade to uncover hidden gems and to explode many of the well established myths about 1970s British film and cinema

Doing Rude Things David McGillivray, 1992

British Science Fiction Cinema I. Q. Hunter, 1999 British Science Fiction Cinema is the first substantial study of a genre which despite a sometimes troubled history has produced some of the best British films from the prewar classic Things to Come to Alien made in Britain by a British director The contributors to this rich and provocative collection explore the diverse strangeness of British science fiction from literary adaptations like Nineteen Eighty Four and A Clockwork Orange to pulp fantasies and creature features far removed from the acceptable face of British cinema Through case studies of key films like The Day the Earth Caught Fire contributors explore the unique themes and concerns of British science fiction from the postwar boom years to more recent productions like Hardware and examine how science fiction cinema drew on a variety of sources from TV adaptations like Doctor Who and the Daleks to the horror sf crossovers produced from John Wyndham's cult novels The Day of the Triffids and The Midwich Cuckoos filmed as Village of the Damned How did budget restrictions encourage the use of the invasion narrative in the 1950s films And how did films such as Unearthly Stranger and Invasion reflect fears about the decline of Britain's economic and colonial power and the threat of female sexuality British Science Fiction Cinema celebrates the breadth and continuing vitality of British sf film making in both big budget productions such as Brazil and Event Horizon and cult exploitation movies like Inseminoid and Lifeforce

Women in British Cinema Sue Harper, 2000-06-01 This book takes a broad perspective and analyses the ways in which the British film industry has dealt with women and their creativity from 1930 to the present The first part of the book deals comprehensively with different historical periods in British film culture showing how the agency of production company director distribution company or scriptwriter can bring about new patterns of female stereotyping The second part looks at the input of women workers into the film process It assesses the work of women in a variety of roles directors such as Wendy Toye and Sally Potter producers such as Betty Box scriptwriters such as Clemence Dane and Muriel Box costume designers such as Shirley Russell and Jocelyn Rickards and editors and art directors This is a polemical book which is written in a lively and often confrontational manner It uses fresh archival material and takes energetic issue with those explanatory models of film analysis which impose easy answers onto complex material

Cinemas of the World James Chapman, 2004-06-03 The cinema has been the pre eminent popular art form of the 20th century In Cinemas of the World James Chapman examines the relationship between film and society in the modern world film as entertainment medium film as a reflection of national cultures and preoccupations film as an instrument of propaganda He also explores two interrelated issues that have recurred throughout the history of cinema the economic and cultural hegemony of

Hollywood on the one hand and on the other the attempts of film makers elsewhere to establish indigenous national cinemas drawing on their own cultures and societies Chapman examines the rise to dominance of Hollywood cinema in the silent and early sound periods He discusses the characteristic themes of American movies from the Depression to the end of the Cold War especially those found in the western and film noir genres that are often used as vehicles for exploring issues central to us society and politics He looks at national cinemas in various European countries in the period between the end of the First World War and the end of the Second which all exhibit the formal and aesthetic properties of modernism The emergence of the so called new cinemas of Europe and the wider world since 1960 are also explored Chapman is a tough thinking original writer an engaging excellent piece of work David Lancaster Film and History Film - An International Bibliography Malte Hagener, Michael Töteberg, 2016-12-16 Kommentierte Bibliografie Sie gibt Wissenschaftlern Studierenden und Journalisten zuverlässig Auskunft über rund 6000 internationale Veröffentlichungen zum Thema Film und Medien Die vorgestellten Rubriken reichen von Nachschlagewerk über Filmgeschichte bis hin zu Fernsehen Video Multimedia Michael Reeves Benjamin Halligan, 2003-11-08 Michael Reeves died at age 25 in 1969 between the end of Swinging London and the collapse of the British film industry an apt candidate to represent all that could have been This critical biography claims Reeves as the great lost auteur of British cinema and traces his conception of film back to his childhood and formative experiences Benjamin Halligan examines Reeves films in the context of the times citing The Sorcerers and Witchfinder General as foreshadowing and critiquing the psychedelic and revolutionary zeitgeist Reeves's earlier work on the fringes of the freewheeling European exploitation cinema is also covered with particular emphasis on his Revenge of the Blood Beast

Love Now, Pay Later? Nigel Yates, 2011-01-01 Nigel Yates brings together the religious and social dimensions of the 1950s and 60s and examines the enormous changes in moral attitudes that took place in these two decades Much of the popular literature on post war Britain tends to present the 1950s as a period of continuing repression and respectability in the area of private and public morality and the 1960s as one in which there was rapid social change Using a wide range of contemporary sources books including novels magazines newspapers advertising fashion catalogues films and television as well as a number of significant archive collections Nigel Yates argues that changes in attitudes to religion and morality in the 1960s were only made possible by developments in the 1950s The British Cinema Book Robert Murphy, 2009-03-31 The history and characteristics of the British cinema are covered in a range of essays in this book each written by an expert in their field Pornography and Sexual Representation Joseph W. Slade, 2001 A three volume reference guide to the available literature concerning pornography and sexual representation in America Unruly Pleasures Xavier Mendik, Graeme Harper, 2000 The first British volume dedicated to the critical consideration of cult movie making from the margins to the mainstream In a series of innovative articles by leading film critics and theorists the book deals with aspects of the medium including the cult film's definitions genres film styles and gender depictions Seventies British Cinema Robert

Shail, 2008-12-15 Seventies British Cinema provides a comprehensive re-evaluation of British film in the 1970s. The decade has long been written off in critical discussions as a doldrums period in British cinema, perhaps because the industry, facing near economic collapse, turned to unacceptable low culture genres such as sexploitation comedies or extreme horror. The contributors to this new collection argue that 1970s cinema is ripe for reappraisal, giving serious critical attention to populist genre films; they also consider the development of a British art cinema in the work of Derek Jarman and Peter Greenaway and the beginnings of an independent sector fostered by the BFI Production Board and producers like Don Boyd. A host of highly individual directors managed to produce interesting and cinematically innovative work against the odds, from Nicolas Roeg to Ken Russell to Mike Hodges. As well as providing a historical and cinematic context for understanding Seventies cinema, the volume also features chapters addressing Hammer horror, the Carry On films, Bond films of the Roger Moore period, Jubilee and other films that responded to Punk rock, heritage cinema, and case studies of key Seventies films such as The Wicker Man and Straw Dogs. In all, the book provides the final missing piece in the rediscovery of British cinema's complex and protean history. Contributors: Ruth Barton, James Chapman, Ian Conrich, Wheeler Winston Dixon, Christophe Dupin, Steve Gerrard, Sheldon Hall, I. Q. Hunter, James Leggott, Claire Monk, Paul Newland, Dan North, Robert Shail, Justin Smith, and Sarah Street.

Making Mischief Steve Chibnall, 1998. The Cult Films of Pete Walker. Walker is celebrated as a film maker of transgressive vision. His mid-1970s trilogy of terror films HOUSE OF WHIPCORD, FRIGHTMARE, and HOUSE OF MORTAL SIN are acknowledged classics of the British horror film and have featured stars Susan George, Stephanie Beacham, Pamela Stephenson, and Ray Brooks. This is the first book to be written about his work and features interviews and details of his new movie about the Sex Pistols, A STAR IS DEAD. The Encyclopedia of British Film Brian McFarlane, 2005. Psychedelic Decadence Martin Christopher Jones, 2001 Cruises through popular British culture of the 1960s and 1970s by way of a collection of eclectic illustrated essays With an emphasis on the throwaway world of sex drugs movies comics and rockn roll Glam and Gutter are explored in detail courtesy of an occasional surprising diversion From cliched hippies to nonconformists through trend crushing youth movements to pop stars in bad horror movies and prog rock nothing is safe from the crushed velveteen grasp of Psychedelic Decadence

Censored Tom Dewe Mathews, 1994 If one drew up a list of the best films ever made then it turns out that nearly all of them have been heavily censored or banned Lang's METROPOLIS Chaplin's CITY STREETS Eisenstein's BATTLESHIP POTEMKIN Brando's THE WILD ONE and Kubrick's THE CLOCKWORK ORANGE for instance have all suffered from the effects of censorship This pioneering book explores the absurdities and occasional virtues of censorship over the whole history of film in Britain and places them in the context of their age From the banning of anti Nazi films that continued up to 1939 to the sexual dilemmas of the 50s and 60s as the censors dealt with homosexuality nudity violence drugs rape and other subjects that came out of the closet right up to the ludicrous limits still imposed on film makers by the BBFC this book is a brilliantly entertaining but also hard hitting account of a control that is often political in its effect and always contradictory

English Gothic Jonathan Rigby, 2004 Traces the rise and fall of the horror genre from its nineteenth century beginnings to the present day encompassing the lost films of the silent era the Karloff and Lugosi chillers of the 1930 s the lurid classics from Hammer's house of horror and the explicit shockers of the 1970 s
