Doing Psychological Research Gathering And Analyzing Data:

Doing Psychological Research Nicky Hayes, 2000 This is a book that should definitely be considered for many introductory psychology courses that need a factual and accessible exposition of psychological research principles and methods Times Higher Education Supplement covers a wider spectrum than many introductory texts on methods in psychology and has a stronger emphasis on qualitative methods than others it will be particularly attractive to students seeking a lifeline into methods at first year undergraduate level Nicky Hayes reputation will strengthen the demand for it particularly among undergraduates who have already used her texts at A level Professor Nigel Lemon University of Huddersfield there are other research methods textbooks for A level students currently on the market Nicky Hayes has written a book which renders most of these obsolete The new A level specifications allow students to venture into areas of research that require different forms of qualitative analysis These are hardly addressed in competing texts and are given thorough treatment by Nicky Hayes I admire her ability to offer depth of treatment to complex issues without losing her audience This is an interactive textbook and I am pleased to see that every chapter contains worked examples definitions and activities I can highly recommend this book Mike Stanley Gordano School North Somerset UK Research methodology is one of the most important and also one of the most difficult aspects of psychology for many students to grasp This new textbook written by one of the most experienced and respected writers of psychology textbooks in the UK provides a comprehensive account of both qualitative and quantitative methods It does so in the friendly lucid style which has made Nicky Hayes other textbooks so popular with students and teachers Doing Psychological Research has been carefully written and designed to help students grasp complex concepts and to provide them with a sound methodological toolkit for carrying out their own projects The book is divided into data gathering and analytical sections and covers the main methods used in psychology for each of these purposes Exercises and activities worked examples of statistical tests and self assessment questions all help to deepen understanding and illustrate the relevance of the material A full bibliography and index and a useful glossary of terms complete the package This is the accessible but comprehensive introductory text which many students and teachers of research methods in psychology have been looking for It is likely to become essential reading for introductory courses

Developing Identities Massimiliano Spotti,2008-08 At present western European societies are at the same time facing the aftermath of massive immigration movements and the challenges of new globalization waves Education is at the heart of this twofold experience On the one hand it is confronted with the demand of developing a canon for national identity construction On the other hand it is held responsible for the pupils emancipation in a globalizing society As a consequence teachers and pupils are challenged to deal with identity issues in their everyday classroom realities In politics the media and the educational field much has been said and done regarding immigrant minority pupils identities and their socio cultural and linguistic integration Still little is known about how identities are actually constructed and developed in the discourses of those who make up the primary school classroom This book reports on two ethnographic case studies carried out in multicultural classrooms in a Dutch and Flemish primary school It portrays the discourses and the interactions class teachers and their twelve year old pupils are engaged in on a daily basis In depth analyses are presented of the institutional discourses which the classrooms are part of and of the teachers and pupils discourses and their mutual relationships In both classrooms the analysis shows that pupils identities are constructed by the institutions and their teachers on the basis of their language behaviour and their presupposed belonging to a homogeneous cultural and or religious group The analysis at the same time makes clear that teachers have started questioning their understanding of immigrant minority pupils identities It further shows that the pupils under investigation are by no means passive objects of identity ascription Rather they appear as active and capable multilingual and multicultural stockbrokers ready and willing to invest in the linguistic and cultural currency that ensures the highest return on investment
