Encyclopedia of Contemporary Literary Theory Irene Rima Makaryk, 1993-01-01 The last half of the twentieth century has seen the emergence of literary theory as a new discipline As with any body of scholarship various schools of thought exist and sometimes conflict within it I R Makaryk has compiled a welcome guide to the field Accessible and jargon free the Encyclopedia of Contemporary Literary Theory provides lucid concise explanations of myriad approaches to literature that have arisen over the past forty years Some 170 scholars from around the world have contributed their expertise to this volume Their work is organized into three parts In Part I forty evaluative essays examine the historical and cultural context out of which new schools of and approaches to literature arose The essays also discuss the uses and limitations of the various schools and the key issues they address Part II focuses on individual theorists It provides a more detailed picture of the network of scholars not always easily pigeonholed into the categories of Part I This second section analyses the individual achievements as well as the influence of specific scholars and places them in a larger critical context Part III deals with the vocabulary of literary theory It identifies significant complex terms places them in context and explains their origins and use Accessibility is a key feature of the work By avoiding jargon providing mini bibliographies and cross referencing throughout Makaryk has provided an indispensable tool for literary theorists and historians and for all scholars and students of contemporary criticism and culture

Modern Critical Theory and Classical Literature Irene J. F. De Jong, J. John Patrick Sullivan, 1994 In recent decades the study of literature in Europe and the Americas has been profoundly influenced by modern critical theory in its various forms whether Structuralism or Deconstructionism Hermeneutics Reader Response Theory or Rezeptionsästhetik Semiotics or Narratology Marxist feminist neo historical psychoanalytical or other perspectives Whilst the value and validity of such approaches to literature is still a matter of some dispute not least among classical scholars they have had a substantial impact on the study both of classical literatures and of the mentalite of Greece and Rome In an attempt to clarify issues in the debate the eleven contributors to this volume were asked to produce a representative collection of essays to illustrate the applicability of some of the new approaches to Greek and Latin authors or literary forms and problems The scope of the volume was deliberately limited to literary investigation broadly construed of Greek and Roman authors Broader areas of the history and culture of the ancient world impinge in the essays but are not their central focus The volume also contains a separate bibliography offering for the first time a complete bibliography of classical studies which incorporate modern critical theory A Glossary of Literary Terms Meyer Howard Abrams, 2005 This text defines and discusses terms critical theories and points of view that are commonly used to classify analyse interpret and write the history of works of literature The Glossary presents a series of essays in alphabetic order The Journal of Ayn Rand Studies, 2005 Revising Life Through Literature Joyce D. against Rushdie raises important questions Did Rushdie mean The Satanic Verses or didn't he When he publicly recanted what did he mean What do we even mean by mean This is the starting point for Richard Henry's fascinating investigation of the pragmatic foundations of fictional discourse Drawing from Paul Grice's interrogation of meaning and implicature Henry offers a systematic correlation between what it is to pretend and what it is to mean how the two concepts inform each other and how it is possible to mean seriously and sincerely by purportedly pretended acts Pretending and Meaning Toward a Pragmatic Theory of Fictional Discourse draws upon Paul Grice's interrogation of meaning and implicature to offer a systematic correlation between what it is to pretend and what it is to mean how the two concepts inform each other and how it is possible to mean seriously and sincerely by purportedly pretended acts Nostalgic Teleology Constantin Behler, 1995 Develops a novel interpretation of German writer Schiller's 1759-1805 aesthetic humanism as a program of normative discipline in Foucault's sense of the term Establishes the importance of his legacy in later European and American thought shows how his promise of recovering nature and community hides the violence of his project of aesthetic education and elucidates the Other Sex on which it pivots All quotations are in English No index Annotation copyright by Book News Inc Portland OR Milton Perez Zagorin, 1992 The author presents an account of Milton's political philosophy set in the closest relationship to his personal and intellectual history as a political man during the English revolution the decisive event of his life and time He follows Milton's mind in its political manifestations from his earlier poetry before the outbreak of revolt against the Stuart monarchy through his activity as a passionate partisan and revolutionary publicist in the decades 1640-1660 to his final work as an epic poet following the revolution's failure and the restoration of Charles II in 1660
