Dolls and Dolls' Houses Roger Baker, 1973 Dolls and Dolls Houses Kay Desmonde, 1972 A Picture Book of Dolls and Dolls' Houses Victoria and Albert Museum, 1926 Aesthetic Femininity and Domestic Modernity in Late Victorian Advice Literature Shu-chuan Yan, 2025-09-19

Aesthetic Femininity and Domestic Modernity in Late Victorian Advice Literature considers how the domestic interior is constituted imagined contested and mediated in the public forum of advice literature. It interrogates the construction and negotiation of aesthetic femininity and domestic modernity within the larger contexts of the New Journalism the New Art Criticism a new girls culture and the emerging New Woman phenomenon in Britain. This book presents extensive new research on women authored advice literature including domestic advice manuals home decoration books and periodicals for young girls and adult women within the discourse of household art. Part One justifies girls presence in the cultivation of beauty and taste at home. The practice of home decoration can be appropriated as a mode of agency and subjectivity for a girl to articulate her own voice and specific positioning as she grows toward womanhood. Part Two uncovers the ways in which advice literature serves as a mediator of decorating practices to help foster the affinities between gentlewomen's domestic bodies and decorated interiors. Aimed at an interdisciplinary audience this book adds to the growing body of scholarship on the studies of home cultures art and interior design nineteenth century studies and the social history of women. This unique collection of essays and images explores a series of objects in the Royal Collection as a means of assessing the interrelated histories of the British royal family and the Shakespearean afterlife across four centuries. Between the beginning of the eighteenth century and the late twentieth Shakespeare became entrenched as the English national poet. Over the same period the monarchy sought repeatedly to demonstrate its centrality to British nationhood. By way of close analysis of a selection of objects from the Royal Collection this volume argues that the royal family and the Shakespearean afterlife were far more closely interwoven than has previously been realized. The chapters map the mutual development over time of the relationship between members of the British royal family and Shakespeare demonstrating the extent to which each has gained sustained value from association with the other and showing how members of the royal family have individually and collectively constructed their identities and performed their roles by way of Shakespearean models. Each chapter is inspired by an object in or formerly in the Royal Collection and explores two interconnected questions: what has Shakespeare done for the royal family and what has the royal family done for Shakespeare The chapters range across the fields of art theatre history literary criticism literary history court studies and cultural history showing how the shared history of Shakespeare and the royal family has been cultivated across media and across disciplines Dolls' houses Valerie Jackson-Douet,1995 A Collector's Guide to Dollhouses Valerie Jackson,Val Jackson,1992 The Collector's Guide to Dollhouses and Dollhouse Miniatures Marian Maeve O'Brien,1974 The League of Youth: The Pillars of Society: A Doll's House Henrik Ibsen,1907 The Illustrated London News ,1908 Official Descriptive and Illustrated Catalogue: Index and introductory.
