Domestication of the Savage Mind Jack Goody, 1988 A History of the Social Sciences in 101 Books Cyril Lemieux, Laurent Berger, Marielle Mace, Gildas Salmon, Cecile Vidal, 2023-08-01 An intellectual history of the social sciences that offers a library of 101 books that broke new ground for the field What are the social sciences What unifies them This essay collection seeks to answer these and other important questions as it considers how the field has developed over the years from post World War II to the present day throughout the world Edited by Cyril Lemieux Laurent Berger Marielle Mac Gildas Salmon and C cile Vidal A History of the Social Sciences in 101 Books brings together a diverse range of researchers in the social sciences to present short essays on 101 books both renowned and lesser known that have shaped the field from Theodor Adorno and Max Horkheimer's Dialectic of Enlightenment 1947 to Michel Aglietta's Money 5000 Years of Debt and Power 2016 While there have been surveys and intellectual histories of particular disciplines within the social sciences history anthropology sociology until now there has been no intellectual history of the social sciences as a unified whole Far from presenting a fixed and frozen canon A History of the Social Sciences in 101 Books offers instead a moving multiform landscape with no settled questions only an ongoing series of new perspectives and challenges to previously established grounding If Not Critical Eric Griffiths, 2018-03-16 Eric Griffiths delivered hundreds of lectures at the Faculty of English in Cambridge yet his lectures were never turned into books If Not Critical brings together ten lectures published here for the first time that offer a representative selection of Dr Griffiths' original fully argued and richly exemplified contributions to literary criticism and literary history Crammed into his writing are decades of reading in several languages and across most genres and literary periods In these lectures he pursues the blind spots not only of other people's arguments but of the whole business of criticism in general with what he calls its over concentration on a narrow range of examples such over concentration warps our thinking Implicit and explicit throughout his work is the argument that an appropriately wide range of instances is essential to making progress in conceptualisation that what we need in order to do better thinking is a keener attention to a greater variety of examples Such examples include in these lectures the works of Shakespeare Dante Kafka Beckett Racine Rabelais T S Eliot and Jonathan Swift Searching for Literacy Harvey J. Graff, 2022-08-21 This book provides a critical account of the development of questions approaches methods and understandings of literacy within and across disciplines and interdisciplines It provides a critique of literacy studies including the New Literacy Studies This book completes a series that the author began in the 1970s It criticizes and revises the New Literacy Studies and how we think about literacy generally It is a revisionist study which argues that literacy and literacy studies are historical developments and must be understood in those terms to comprehend their profound impact on our traditions of thinking about and understanding literacy and how we study it Graff argues that literacy studies in its academic institutional and policy forums but also in popular parlance has lost its critical foundations and this hinders efforts to promote literacy He examines literacy over time and across linguistics anthropology psychology reading and writing across modes of communication and comprehension new literacies across digital visual performance numerical and scientific domains and history He underscores the value of new directions of negotiation and translation This book will interest scholars and students in the many fields that constitute literacy studies across the humanities social sciences education and beyond

Literature and the Evolution of Consciousness Kishor Gandhi, 1984 Bemba Myth and Ritual Kevin Burns Maxwell, 1983 By focusing on the differences between an oral society and a literate one this study exemplifies the usefulness of contemporary media studies in analyzing cultural change in Africa It also adds a distinctive chapter to the cultural history of the Bemba as a formally oral aural people Hearing is their primary cognitive sense and the physical properties of sound significantly affect the Bemba worldview Their charter myth initiation rites traditional authorities and tales of spirits embody a network of central religious metaphors and limit symbols each of which is signalized by its acoustic characteristics Literacy is restructuring Bemba consciousness and society making vision the primary sense and written codes not tribal personalities the basis of government Literacy de animates cognitional objects develops language for hermeneutical precision and frees individuals from the tribal needs to remember and conform As more Bemba convert to Christianity and interiorize writing technology elements of their oral religion ironically become more dependent for survival on acculturation with these literate forces

Joseph Conrad and V.S. Naipaul Jimmy Wallenstein, 1996 The Sociology of Sacred Texts Jon Davies, Isabel Wollaston, 1993 The papers in this volume analyse the variety of conceptions we have of the sacred and of what constitutes a sacred text They do so from the perspectives of literature theology and the social sciences Particular attention is paid to the process of sacralization The papers fall into two groups First there are those that explore the cononical process by which sacred texts emerge and are recognized as authoritative by a community Secondly there are those that attempt to expand our conception of the sacred texts that exist alongside the official sacred text s and that although often hidden retain the power to challenge or subvert the world view enshrined in the established canon The Anglo-Saxon Achievement Richard Hodges,1989 The Indian Journal of Adult Education ,1990 Performing and Processing The Aeneid B. G. Campbell,2001 Most critics and commentators on The Aeneid refer to Virgil s audience as readers Yet before the advent of printing texts were neither quantitatively multiple nor qualitatively identical Furthermore the formatting of texts was not especially reader friendly This book focuses on chirographic manuscripted texts as generally being performed orally and processed aurally Chirographic texts retained a massive oral residue The realities of reciting to a listening rather than a reading audience presented a different set of problems to an ancient author than those faced by a modern author writing for a typographically literate audience The Cognitive Revolution in Western Culture: The birth of expectation Don LePan,1989 The North Dakota Quarterly ,1984 Vol 1 includes The installation of Frank Le Rond McVey as president of the University of North Dakota Programs and proceedings called Inauguration number dated Sept 1910 Journal of the Anthropological Society of Oxford Anthropological Society of Oxford,1980 The American Journal of Islamic Social Sciences ,1988
