The Original Portrayal of Mozart's Don Giovanni Magnus Tessing Schneider, 2021-11-15 The Original Portrayal of Mozart's Don Giovanni offers an original reading of Mozart's and Da Ponte's opera Don Giovanni using as a lens the portrayal of the title role by its creator the baritone Luigi Bassi 1766-1825 Although Bassi was coached in the role by the composer himself his portrayal has never been studied in depth before and this book presents a large number of new sources first and second hand accounts which allows us to reconstruct his performance scene by scene The book confronts Bassi's portrayal with a study of the opera's early German reception and performance history demonstrating how Don Giovanni as we know it today was not only created by Mozart Da Ponte and Luigi Bassi but also by the early German adapters translators critics and performers who turned the title character into the arrogant and violent villain we still encounter in most of today's stage productions Incorporating discussion of dramaturgical thinking of the late Enlightenment and the difficult moral problems that the opera raises this is an important study for scholars and researchers from opera studies theatre and performance studies music history as well as conductors directors and singers Don Giovanni.

Libretto Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart, Lorenzo Da Ponte, Wystan Hugh Auden, Chester Kallman, 1961 The Vienna Don Giovanni Ian Woodfield, 2010 Aspects of Don Giovanni's compositional history are uncovered and the study provides for detailed evidence with which to evaluate Da Ponte's recollections The essential truth of his account that the revision of the operain Vienna was an interactive process seems to be fully borne out A general theory of transmission is proposed which clarifies the relationship between the fluid text produced by re creation and the static text generated by replication In the year following its 1787 Prague premi re Don Giovanni was performed in Vienna Everyone according to the well known account by Da Ponte thought something was wrong with it In response Mozart made changes producing a Vienna version of the opera cutting two of the original arias but inserting three newly composed pieces The dilemma faced by musicians and scholars ever since has been whether to preserve the opera in these two authentic forms or whether to fashion a hybrid text incorporating the best of both This study presents new evidence about the Vienna form of the opera based on the examination of late eighteenth century manuscript copies The Prague Conservatory score is identified as the primary exemplar for the Viennese dissemination of Don Giovanni which is shown to incorporate two quite distinct versions represented by the performing materials in Vienna O A 361 and the early Lauschi commercial copy in Florence To account for this phenomenon seen also in early sources of the Prague Don Giovanni and Cos fan tutte a general theory of transmission for the Mozart Da Ponte operas is proposed which clarifies the relationship between the fluid text produced by re creation performing and the static text generated by replication copying Aspects of the compositional history of Don Giovanni are uncovered Evidence to suggest that Mozart first considered an order in which Donna Elvira's scena precedes the comic duet

Per queste tue manine is assessed The essential truth of Da Ponte's account that the revision of the opera in Vienna was an interactive process involving the views of performers the reactions of audiences and the composer's responses seems to be fully borne out The final part of the study investigates the late eighteenth century transmission of Don Giovanni The idea that hybrid versions gained currency only in the nineteenth century or in the lighter Singspiel tradition is challenged IAN WOODFIELD is Professor and Director of Research at the School of Music and Sonic Arts Queen's University Belfast
