Dont Do It A Dictionary Of The Forbidden:

Don't Do It! Philip Thody, 1997 From Leviticus on what to eat to the permissible and impermissible in modern life taboos have set the rules written and unwritten throughout the ages for what we say what we wear what we do from day to day This dictionary provides an historical account of how taboos have operated down the ages in different societies and realms of life in sex birth and death food drink and excretion dress hairstyle and gesture gender race and religion art literature theatre and film language religion and science Taboo in American Society, 1999 Symposium, 2007 Combinatorial Pattern Matching Paolo Ferragina, Gad M. Landau, 2008-06-08 The papers contained in this volume were presented at the 19th

Annual Symposium on Combinatorial Pattern Matching CPM 2008 held at the University of Pisa Italy June 18 20 2008 All the papers presented at the conference are original research contributions on computational pattern matching and analysis They were selected from 78 submissions Each submission was reviewed by at least three reviewers The committee decided to accept 25 papers The programme also includes three invited talks by Daniel M Guseld from the University of California Davis USA J Ian Munro from the University of Waterloo Canada and Prabhakar Raghavan from Yahoo Research USA The objective of the annual CPM meetings is to provide an international forum for research in combinatorial pattern matching and related applications It addresses issues of searching and matching strings and more complicated patterns such as trees regular expressions graphs point sets and arrays The goal is to derive non trivial combinatorial properties of such structures and to exploit these properties in order to either achieve superior performance for the corresponding computational problems or pinpoint conditions under which searches cannot be performed efficiently The meeting also deals with problems in computational biology data compression data mining coding information retrieval natural language processing and pattern recognition
