Goethe in the Age of Artificial Intelligence Malte Ebach,2023-01-24 Inside you lies a precise scientific instrument the ability to observe Nature and recall past experiences You were born with it and you use it every day You can be trained to use it more effectively to for example compare and discover new species of organisms or new minerals Our senses do have limitations and we often use microscopes telescopes and other tools to aid our observation However we benefit from knowing their limitations and the impact they have on our ability to combine our observations and our experience to make decisions Once these tools replace our direct observation and our experience we ourselves become disconnected from Nature Scientific practice turns into well meant opinions out weighing empirical evidence This is happening now in the current age of big data and artificial intelligence The author calls this the Modern Hubris and it is slowly corroding science To combat the Modern Hubris and to reconnect with Nature scientists need to change the way they practise observation To do so may require the scientist to transform themselves One person who successfully did this was Johann Wolfgang von Goethe His journey demonstrates how one man attempted to take on the Modern Hubris by transforming his life and how he saw Nature Following Goethe s transformation teaches us how we can also reconnect ourselves with Nature and Natural science
