Understanding Peace Research Kristine Hoglund, Magnus Oberg, 2011-03 This textbook provides a comprehensive overview of different methods and sources of information gathering for peace and conflict students and researchers as well as the challenges presented by such work Research on conflict ridden societies carries special challenges for the collection and evaluation of information about the conflict and its actors First due to the nature of information emerging incentives to misrepresent and propaganda is common News coverage is sometimes poor and reporting is often incomplete selective and biased Second the sensitivity of the topic and the questions posed in peace and conflict research means that access to and the security of informants can be a problem Peace and conflict research as a discipline encompasses a number of different approaches for obtaining empirical information which serve as a basis for analyzing various research topics This book provides a comprehensive overview of different methods and sources of information gathering for students and researchers as well as the challenges presented by such work It offers tools for evaluating sources and information suggestions on where different types of information can be found advice on using different types of sources including news reports and written narratives practical guidelines for constructing large scale datasets insights and guidelines for comparative fieldwork in depth interviews focus groups and surveys reflection and discussion on important ethical concerns in peace research This book will be of much interest for students and researchers of peace and conflict studies conflict resolution war and conflict studies development studies security studies and IR as well as for NGO workers researchers Kristine H glund is Associate Professor at the Department of Peace and Conflict Research Uppsala University She has a PhD in Peace and Conflict Research from Uppsala University Sweden 2004 She is author of Peacemaking in the Shadow of Violence Magnus berg is Associate Professor at the Department of Peace and Conflict Research Uppsala University and Associate Editor of the Journal of Peace Research since 2006 He has a PhD in Peace and Conflict Research from Uppsala University 2003 and is co editor of Resources Governance and Civil Conflict Routledge 2008

Methodologies in Peace Psychology Diane Bretherton, Siew Fang Law, 2015-09-03 This volume looks at research methods through the lens of peace studies and peace values Apart from reviewing established methods from peace psychology it presents some innovative ideas for conducting research in the area of peace psychology Many of these methods are drawn from the field from activities used by active peace practitioners A critical component of this volume is its core argument that peace research should be conducted by peaceful means and should model peaceful processes Organized thematically the volume begins with a review of the established best practices in peace psychology research methodology including methods for qualitative research for quantitative research and participative action networks In doing so it also points to some of the limitations of working for peace within the tradition of a single discipline and to the need to expand psychology methodology to methodologies Therefore the second half of the volume proceeds to explore the realm of innovative relatively unorthodox research methods such as participatory and workshop methods the creative arts and sports for research purposes The use of new advances in information technology to conduct peaceful research are also discussed The concluding chapters synthesize key issues from the previous chapters and links peace psychology with ideas and implementation of research designs and practices Finally it discusses the nature of academic knowledge and more specifically academic knowledge in peace psychology and where that fits into the mission to build a more peaceful world

Overall this book aims to provide peace psychologists with an array of possibilities and best practices for approaching their research. Many researchers find the experience of doing research a somewhat lonely if not isolating experience. Methodologies in Peace Psychology: Peace Research by Peaceful Means aims to alleviate this feeling as the use of these more innovative methods leads to a closer engagement with the community and a much more social experience of research. This volume is a useful tool for both new and experienced researchers because it provides leads for idealistic young researchers who want their work to make a difference in addition to encouraging more reflection and analysis for experienced peace psychologists.

Handbook of Group Decision and Negotiation D. Marc Kilgour, Colin Eden, 2010-08-02 Publication of the Handbook of Group Decision and Negotiation marks a milestone in the evolution of the group decision and negotiation GDN field. On this occasion editors Colin Eden and Marc Kilgour asked me to write a brief history of the field to provide background and context for the volume. They said that I am in a good position to do so. Actively involved in creating the GDN Section and serving as its chair, founding and leading the GDN journal Group Decision and Negotiation as editor in chief and the book series Advances in Group Decision and Negotiation as editor and serving as general chair of the GDN annual meetings, I accepted their invitation to write a brief history. In 1989 what is now the Institute for Operations Research and the Management Sciences (INFORMS) established its Section on Group Decision and Negotiation. The journal Group Decision and Negotiation was founded in 1992, published by Springer in cooperation with INFORMS and the GDN Section. In 2003, as an extension of the journal, the Springer book series Advances in Group Decision and Negotiation was inaugurated.

Abstracts of Public Administration, Development, and Environment, 2007 Problem-solving and Bargaining in International Negotiations Lynn M. Wagner, 2008 International Negotiation Series 5 International Studies Library 8 Many analysts theorize that negotiation processes determine negotiated outcomes but none have empirically tested this hypothesis across multiple cases of international negotiation. This book examines the process-outcome relationship in thirteen bilateral and multilateral negotiations involving the United States. Declassified reports from U.S. negotiators about discussions with their counterparts provide the primary data source through which the author constructs the case studies and performs a content analysis of negotiator statements to compare process and outcome. The book seeks to advance our understanding of the relationship between negotiation process and outcome as well as to provide empirically based guidance for decision makers when selecting a negotiating approach.
