Artificial Intelligence for Learning Donald Clark, 2020-08-13 Artificial intelligence is creating huge opportunities for workplace learning and employee development However it can be difficult for L D professionals to assess what difference AI can make in their organization and where it is best implemented Artificial Intelligence for Learning is the practical guide L D practitioners need to understand what AI is and how to use it to improve all aspects of learning in the workplace It includes specific guidance on how AI can provide content curation and personalization to improve learner engagement how it can be implemented to improve the efficiency of evaluation assessment and reporting and how chatbots can provide learner support to a global workforce Artificial Intelligence for Learning debunks the myths and cuts through the hype around AI allowing L D practitioners to feel confident in their ability to critically assess where artificial intelligence can make a measurable difference and where it is worth investing in There is also critical discussion of how AI is an aid to learning and development not a replacement as well as how it can be used to boost the effectiveness of workplace learning reduce drop off rates in online learning and improve ROI With real world examples from companies who have effectively implemented AI and seen the benefits as well as case studies from organizations including Netflix British Airways and the NHS this book is essential reading for all L D practitioners needing to understand AI and what it means in practice The Process of Question

Answering Wendy G. Lehnert, 2022-11-01 Originally published in 1978 The Process of Question Answering examines a phenomenon that relies on many realms of human cognition language comprehension memory retrieval and language generation Problems in computational question answering assume a new perspective when question answering is viewed as a problem in natural language processing A theory of human question answering must necessarily entail a theory of human memory organization and theories of the cognitive processes that access and manipulate information in memory This book describes question answering as a particular task in information processing The theoretical models described here have been built on a formulation of general theories in natural language processing theories about language that were developed without the specific problem of question answering in mind By requiring programmers to be concerned with the precise form of information in memory and the precise operations manipulating that information they can uncover significant problems that would otherwise be overlooked An early insight into artificial intelligence today this reissue can be enjoyed in its historical context Teaching and Learning at a Distance Michael Simonson, Susan Zvacek, 2024-01-01 Teaching and Learning at a Distance is written for introductory distance education courses for preservice or in service teachers and for training programs that discuss teaching distant learners or managing distance education systems This text provides readers with the basic information needed to be knowledgeable distance educators and leaders of distance education programs The teacher or trainer who uses this book will be able to design courses evaluate programs and identify issues and trends affecting the field In this text we take the following themes The first theme is the definition of distance education Before we started writing the first edition of Teaching and Learning at a Distance we carefully reviewed the literature to determine the definition that would be at the foundation of our writing This definition is based on the work of Desmond Keegan but is unique to this book and has been adopted by the Association for Educational Communications and Technology and by the Encyclopedia Britannica The second theme of the book is the importance of research to the development of effective courses and programs offered at a distance The best practices presented in Teaching and Learning at a Distance are validated by scientific evidence Certainly there are rules of thumb but we have always attempted to only include recommendations that can be supported by research The third theme of Teaching and Learning at a Distance is derived from Richard Clark s famous quote published in the Review of Educational Research asserting that media are mere vehicles that do not directly influence achievement Clark s controversial work is discussed in the book but is also fundamental to the book s advocacy for distance education in other words we authors do not make the claim that education delivered at a distance is inherently better than other ways people learn Distance delivered instruction is not a magical approach that makes learners achieve more Equivalency theory is the fourth theme of the book Here we present the concept that instruction should be provided to learners that is equivalent rather than identical to what might be delivered in a traditional environment Equivalency theory helps the instructional designer approach the development of instruction for each learner without attempting to duplicate what happens in a face to face classroom The final theme for Teaching and Learning at a Distance is the idea that the book should be comprehensive that it should cover as much of the various ways instruction is made available to distant learners as is possible It can serve as a stand alone source of information
