Michele Chandler offers innovative approaches to teaching Black speculative fiction e.g. science fiction, fantasy, horror in ways that will inspire middle and high school students to think, talk, and write about issues of equity, justice, and antiracism. The book highlights texts by seminal authors such as Octavia E. Butler and influential and emerging authors including Nnedi Okorafor, Kacen Callender, B.B. Alston, Tomi Adeyemi, and Bethany C. Morrow. Each chapter in Teaching Black Speculative Fiction introduces a Black speculative text and its author, describes how the text engages with issues of equity, justice, and or antiracism, explains and describes how one theory or approach helps elucidate the key text's concern with equity, justice, and or antiracism, and offers engaging teaching activities that encourage students to read the focal text that facilitate exploration of the text and a theoretical lens or critical approach and that guide students to consider ways to extend the focus on equity, justice, and or antiracism to action in their own lives and communities.

Digital Storytelling - Content and Application

,2023-10-25 Storytelling is a form of communication that has been present throughout a substantial span of human history. The advent of emerging technologies such as augmented reality (AR), virtual reality (VR), and mixed reality has significantly transformed the conventional narrative in the realm of digital storytelling. Currently, this technology has the potential to be utilised in various application domains spanning multiple fields of study. It holds significant value for various entities within a given society, including corporations, non-profit organisations, tourism operators, educators, developers of online and mobile games, marketers, and numerous other stakeholders operating within diverse contexts. Hence, one might suggest that digital storytelling possesses significant potential in contemporary society.

Global Media Arts Education

Aaron D. Knochel, Osamu Sahara, 2022-10-22 This edited volume broadens the understanding of the media arts at a global scale, bringing together practices and ideas from artists and art educators from around the world. Authors explore issues of cultural and social diversity in fields of education, media theory, and critical theories of education and pedagogy, with particular attention to digital technologies' impact on visual arts learning. Researchers utilize a range of methodologies, including participant research, ethnographies, action research, case study, and design-based research. These artists and art educators share new research about the pedagogical and theoretical aspects of media arts in educational systems that are facing unprecedented change. This volume begins to map why and how experts are working within networked society and playing with digital innovations through media arts education as a critical and creative practice.

Generative AI and Education

B. Mairéad Pratschke, 2024-08-27 This volume addresses the gap in knowledge around generative AI and its applications in education. It draws on the recent history of technological innovation and digital pedagogies, locating generative AI in the contemporary discourse around education's futures. It argues that a new hybrid model of education is emerging, requiring educational institutions to embed generative AI into course and programme design, delivery, and assessment. It also proposes a shift from a focus on learning as output to learning as a process and explores what that shift might look like. Grounded in educational theory, it offers actionable pedagogy-informed guidance on how to position AI as a collaborator in the construction of learning in a manner that is congruent with the values and aims of education It offers advice based on evidence based digital pedagogy including frameworks for effective teaching and learning with generative AI that enable educators and designers to put these ideas into practice The book also explores the wider context informing this shift connecting narratives from governments and industry leaders on the strategic importance of generative AI and lifelong learning learning agility and future skills that make the case for the integration of competency based assessment into mainstream education Finally going beyond pedagogy and practice it considers some of the broader issues including limitations and ethics and the implications of integrating generative AI into institutional planning and design and includes a sample roadmap for education leaders to start the process of integrating generative AI into their institutions This work approaches the topic of generative AI from the vantage point of educators by addressing themes and concerns that will resonate with professionals in the sector
