Humans Plus Technology Nancy Gleason, 2025-04-30 Emerging technologies that enable automation of tasks are changing the skills demanded in the workplace and the tasks we perform. The pace and scale of changes brought on by the fourth industrial revolution, as well as changing demographics and climate change, mean that we are facing an upskilling emergency in the global labor force. Key trend areas considered are enhanced humans, old jobs, and new skills; new technologies that create new work; and the phenomena of deskilling. As generative AI, such as ChatGPT and Microsoft Copilot, enjoys unprecedented user engagement, the durable skills required for success in the professional world are shifting. Until now, the voices contributing to the public discourse on the future of work rarely include those who will actually do the work. This book shares youth perspectives on specific cases of how technology is changing the tasks we perform in our everyday jobs and the new skills that are needed to thrive in a human-technology workplace. Around the world, youth are entering the workforce during an era of artificial intelligence and unprecedented disruption. The

Surveillance Education Nolan Higdon,Allison Butler,2024-08-02 Surveillance Education explores the pervasive use of digital surveillance technologies in schools and assesses its pernicious effects on students Recognizing that the use of digital technologies will persist the authors instead offer practical ways to ameliorate their impact In our era of surveillance capitalism digital media technologies are ever more intertwined into the educational process Schools are presented with digital technologies as tools of convenience for gathering and grading student work as tools of support to foster a more equitable learning environment and as tools of safety for predicting or preventing violence or monitoring mental emotional and physical health Despite a dearth of evidence to confirm their effectiveness digital data collection and tracking is often presented as a way to improve educational outcomes and safety This book challenges these fallacious assumptions and argues that the use of digital media technologies has caused great harm to students by subjecting them to oppressive levels of surveillance impinging upon their right to privacy and harvesting their personal data on behalf of Big Tech In doing so the authors draw upon interviews from K 12 and higher education students teachers and staff civil rights and technology lawyers and educational technological programmers The authors also provide practical guidance for teachers administrators students and their families seeking to identify and combat surveillance in education This urgent eye opening book will be of interest to students and educators with interests in critical media literacy and pedagogy and the sociology of technology and education
