Boettcher,Rita-Marie Conrad,2010-05-13 The Online Teaching Survival

Guide offers faculty a wide array of theory based techniques designed for online teaching and technology enhanced courses. Written by two pioneers in distance education this guidebook presents practical instructional strategies spread out over a four phase timeline that covers the lifespan of a course. The book includes information on a range of topics such as course management, social presence, community building and assessment. Based on traditional pedagogical theory, The Online Teaching Survival Guide integrates the latest research in cognitive processing and learning outcomes. Faculty with little knowledge of educational theory and those well versed in pedagogy will find this resource essential for developing their online teaching skills. Praise for The Online Teaching Survival Guide: At a time when resources for training faculty to teach online are scarce, Judith Boettcher and Rita Marie Conrad have presented a must read for all instructors new to online teaching. By tying best practices to the natural rhythms of a course as it unfolds, instructors will know what to do when and what to expect. The book is a life raft in what can be perceived as turbulent and uncharted waters. Rena M. Palloff and Keith Pratt, program directors and faculty, Teaching in the Virtual Classroom Program, Fielding Graduate University. Developed from years of experience supporting online faculty, Judith Boettcher and Rita Marie Conrad's book provides practical tips and checklists that should especially help those new to online teaching hit the ground running. Karen Swan Stukel, Distinguished Professor of Educational Leadership, University of Illinois Springfield. This book blends a fine synthesis of research findings with plenty of practical advice. This book should be especially valuable for faculty teaching their first or second course online. But any instructor, no matter how experienced, is likely to find valuable insights and techniques. Stephen C. Ehrmann, director, Flashlight Program for the Study and Improvement of Educational Uses of Technology, vice president, The Teaching, Learning and Technology Group.

The American Historical Association's Guide to Historical Literature American Historical Association, 1995. Contains nearly 2,000 annotated citations, primarily English language works, divided into four sections. Citations refer chiefly to works published between 1961 and 1992. Art Book News Annual, volume 4: 2008, Art Book News Annual, volume 4: 2008, Methodist Magazine and Quarterly Review, 1920, Faith-Based Education That Constructs. HeeKap Lee, 2010-08-09. Constructivism is everywhere. It is a hot issue at this time in the field of philosophy, education, technology, and religion. However, can constructivism be an alternative approach in faith based education? While some conclude that Jesus knew learning was an active knowledge creating process and that he always encouraged his disciples to think deeply and go beyond the surface level, others would find that constructivism undercuts faith based education because of its claims to relativity. For example, constructivists claim that meaning is imposed on the world by us rather than existing in the world independently from us. Thus they proclaim that truth is relative to particular times, places, and people. Christians hold that truth does exist absolutely. So how can there be a way forward for faith based educators who see the good in the constructivist approach? In Faith Based Education that Constructs, readers will find a unique approach whereby constructivism may appropriately be applied to a faith based education setting. Although disagreement can occur between constructivism and faith based education this book concludes that constructivist thought and Christian faith based education are in the end congruent and harmonious in significant ways Those faith based educators who continue to hold cautionary views of radical constructivist assertions against absolute truths need not disregard all other aspects of constructivism

Contemporary Gender Formations in India Nandini Dhar, 2024-02-27 The volume discusses critical issues surrounding the developments in gender movements in the last two decades in India following the Delhi rape case and the ensuing massive protests in December 2012 A critical documentation of some of the key moments surrounding the contemporary gendered formations and radicalisms in South Asia the chapters span questions of class caste sexuality digital feminisms and conflict zones The book looks at anger protest and imaginations of resistance It showcases the new visibility that digital spaces have opened up to lend voice to survivors who are let down by traditional justice mechanisms and raises questions regarding individualized modes of seeking justice as against traditional collective voices that have always been a hallmark of movements The volume analyses and criticizes the complicity of the state and the court as agents of reinforcing gender violence an issue that has not been theorized enough by activists and scholars of violence Further it also delves into the MeToo movement and the LoSHA as both have raised contentious controversial and often conflicting debates on the nature of addressing sexual harassment particularly at the workplace Calling for further debate and discussions of cyberspace gender justice sexual violence male entitlement and forms of neoliberal feminism this volume will be of immense interest to scholars and researchers in the areas of women and gender studies sociology and social theory gender politics political theory democracy protest movements politics media and the internet political advocacy and law and legal theory It will also be a compelling read for anyone interested in gender justice and equal rights
