Deathly Waters and Hungry Mountains Peter Gose,1994      Deathly Waters and Hungry Mountains Peter Gose,1994

Gose describes the native peasantry of an Andean town and how they develop a cultural identity a cosmology and a political economy through the rituals that accompany their work in the fields The setting is Huaquirca a remote agricultural town of 800 people in southern Peru The main theme of the study is the complex seasonal round of work parties and rituals that takes place in the fields surrounding Huaquirca These above all other activities define Indian cultural identity linking it to the agrarian occupation and world view of a peasantry Paper edition unseen 22 95 Canadian call no C94 930824 2 Annotation copyright by Book News Inc Portland OR

The Archaeology of Ritual Evangelos Kyriakidis,2007-12-31 A wide spectrum of scholars historians art historians anthropologists students of performance students of religion archaeologists cognitive scientists and linguists were all asked to think and comment on how ritual can be traced in archaeology and which ways ritual research can go in that discipline The product is a fairly accurate representation of research on ritual and the archaeology of ritual scholars from various disciplines backgrounds and agendas arguing mostly in the most logical fashion yet with little agreement between them So this book should not be seen as presenting one unified attitude towards ritual and its study in archaeology It should rather be seen as a reflection of what the discourse in the archaeology of ritual is today The outcome has been extremely thought provoking often controversial but always of extremely high quality

The Politics of the Past in an Argentine Working-Class Neighbourhood Lindsay DuBois,2008-05-15 The Argentine dictatorship of 1976 to 1983 set out to transform Argentine society Employing every means at its disposal including rampant violation of human rights union busting and regressive economic policies the dictatorship aimed to create its own kind of order Lindsay DuBois s The Politics of the Past explores the lasting impact of this authoritarian transformative project for the people who lived through it DuBois s ethnography centres on Jos Ingenieros a Buenos Aires neighbourhood founded in a massive squatter invasion in the early 1970s and describes how the military government s actions largely subdued a politically engaged community DuBois traces how state repression and community militancy are remembered in Jo Ingenieros and how the tangled and ambiguous legacies of the past continued to shape ordinary people s lives years after the collapse of the military regime This rich and evocative study breaks new ground in its exploration of the complex relationships between identity memory class formation neoliberalism and state violence

The Native Leisure Class Rudolf Josef Colloredo-Mansfeld,1999-11 In the Andean city of Otavalo Ecuador a cultural renaissance is now taking place against a backdrop of fading farming traditions transnational migration and an influx of new consumer goods Recently Otavaleños have transformed their textile trade into a prosperous tourist industry exporting colorful weavings around the world Tracing the connections among newly invented craft traditions social networks and consumption patterns Rudi Colloredo Mansfeld highlights the way ethnic identities and class cultures materialize in a sensual world that includes luxurious woven belts powerful stereotypes and garlic roasted cuyes guinea pigs Yet this case reaches beyond the Andes He shows how local and global interactions intensify the cultural expression of the world's emerging native middle classes at times leaving behind those unable to afford the new trappings of indigenous identity Colloredo Mansfeld also comments on his experiences working as an artist in Otavalo His drawings along with numerous photographs animate this engaging study in economic anthropology

Living with Environmental Change Kirsten Hastrup, Cecilie Rubow, 2014-03-05 Climate change is a lived experience of changes in the environment often destroying conventional forms of subsistence and production creating new patterns of movement and connection and transforming people's imagined future This book explores how people across the world think about environmental change and how they act upon the perception of past present and future opportunities Drawing on the ethnographic fieldwork of expert authors it sheds new light on the human experience of and social response to climate change by taking us from the Arctic to the Pacific from the Southeast Indian Coastal zone to the West African dry lands and deserts as well as to Peruvian mountain communities and cities Divided into four thematic parts Water Landscape Technology Time this book uses rich photographic material to accompany the short texts and reflections in order to bring to life the human ingenuity and social responsibility of people in the face of new uncertainties In an era of melting glaciers drying lands and rising seas it shows how it is part and parcel of human life to take responsibility for the social community and take creative action on the basis of a localized understanding of the environment This highly original contribution to the anthropological study of climate change is a must read for all those wanting to understand better what climate change means on the ground and interested in a sustainable future for the Earth

Anthropology and Climate Change Susan A. Crate, Mark Nuttall, 2016-03-31 The first edition of Anthropology and Climate Change 2009 pioneered the study of climate change through the lens of anthropology covering the relation between human cultures and the environment from prehistoric times to the present This second heavily revised edition brings the material on this rapidly changing field completely up to date with major scholars from around the world mapping out trajectories of research and issuing specific calls for action The new edition introduces new foundational chapters laying out what anthropologists know about climate change today new theoretical and practical perspectives insights gleaned from sociology and international efforts to study and curb climate change making the volume a perfect introductory textbook presents a series of case studies both new case studies and old ones updated and viewed with fresh eyes with the specific purpose of assessing climate trends provides a close look at how climate change is affecting livelihoods especially in the context of economic globalization and the migration of youth from rural to urban areas expands coverage to England the Amazon the Marshall Islands Tanzania and Ethiopia re-examines the conclusions and recommendations of the first volume refining our knowledge of what we do and do not know about climate change and what we can do to adapt

Out of the Mainstream Rutgerd Boelens, David Getches, Armando Guevara-Gil, 2010-02-26 Water is not only a source of life and culture It is also a source of power conflicting interests and identity battles Rights to materially access culturally organize and politically control water resources are poorly understood by mainstream scientific approaches and hardly addressed by current normative frameworks These issues become even more challenging when law and policy makers and dominant power groups try to grasp contain and handle them in multicultural societies The struggles over the uses meanings and appropriation of water are especially well illustrated in Andean communities and local water systems of Peru Chile Ecuador and Bolivia as well as in Native American communities in south western USA The problem is that throughout history these nation states have attempted to civilize and bring into the mainstream the different cultures and peoples within their borders instead of understanding context and harnessing the strengths and potentials of diversity This book examines the multi scale struggles for cultural justice and socio economic re distribution that arise as Latin American communities and user federations seek access to water resources and decision making power regarding their control and management It is set in the dynamic context of unequal globalizing power relations politics of scale and identity environmental encroachment and the increasing presence of extractive industries that are creating additional pressures on local livelihoods While much of the focus of the book is on the Andean Region a number of comparative chapters are also included These address issues such as water rights and defence strategies in neighbouring countries and those of Native American people in the southern USA as well as state reform and multi culturalism across Latin and Native America and the use of international standards in struggles for indigenous water rights This book shows that against all odds people are actively contesting neoliberal globalization and water power plays In doing so they construct new hybrid water rights systems livelihoods cultures and hydro political networks and dynamically challenge the mainstream powers and politics
