Pastoral Care and Counseling in Large/Mega Congregations Jean Beedoe, 2016-08-04 Church growth in metropolitan communities motivated a short study concerning the pastoral care and counseling of immigrants specifically Black Caribbean congregants in large mega congregations Culture denomination history and interpretations of scripture enter into the dynamics of defining not only the pastoral office of leaders but their perception of care The phenomenological cycle of care is said to exist as an exchange happens between caregivers and care receivers Such an exploration of three congregations opened up rare concepts of the psycho social and spiritual nature that guide interpersonal relationships of family systems across cultures Large mega congregations desire women s as well as men s style of nurturing and of fellowship that form the characteristics of a sharing caring congregation The study implicated a need for more comprehensive interdisciplinary teaching methods to train church leaders and clergy It signals for an approach in practical theology to develop curricula for spiritual health of cultural plurality in congregations and community

The Sage Handbook of Promotional Culture and Society Lee Edwards,Clea Bourne,Jason Vincent A. Cabañes,Gisela Castro,2024-12-04 The Sage Handbook of Promotional Culture and Society critically examines the social political and cultural impact of promotional industries including advertising branding public relations strategic communication and marketing communication By adopting a global and inclusive approach to its subject the Handbook champions marginalised voices and cross cultural scholarship It brings together contributions from and about a broad range of countries and contexts beyond the Global North providing a well rounded picture of promotion as the international phenomenon it is today Chapters explore both established and emerging topics with an entire section dedicated to the interplay between promotion and identities as well as providing coverage of interdisciplinary issues such as promotional media and children the climate crisis and social media influencers There is also a clear focus on bridging theory and practice with discussions of promotional occupations and workers woven through the chapters By reflecting on the questions of what promotional culture is today how it has evolved and where it is practiced and by whom this Handbook is essential reading for scholars and students seeking to shape future research and debate in this dynamic field Part 1 Promotional Culture and Industry Logics Part 2 Promotional Practices Part 3 Promotion and Identities Part 4 Promotion and Popular Culture Part 5 Promotion and Institutional Power Left of Karl Marx Carole Boyce

Canonization, Colonization, Decolonization Seodial Frank Hubert Deena,2001 This comparative study of theory and literature illustrates the complexity of colonial and canonical marginalization on the bases of race class and gender Through the use of cultural criticism and selected British African African American Native American and Caribbean texts Canonization Colonization Decolonization demonstrates how colonialism and the traditional literary canon exploit and oppress how writers of color have turned stumbling blocks into stepping stones how subtleties of literary and cultural imperialism can undermine the process of decolonization and how prosperity succeeds where adversity has failed to trap writers of color into compromise and complacency It advocates that works by writers of color reflect a multiplicity of interdisciplinarity intertextuality and multiculturalism the hallmark of a new discovering and creative literature Latin American Cultural and Musical Contexts in Music Therapy Patricia Zarate de Perez, 2025-10-21 Essential reading for all music therapists this detailed primer explores the rich array of languages religions histories and influences that make up Latin American musical culture and how they can be used to tailor music therapy practice to Latine clients Decolonizing Qualitative Approaches for and by the Caribbean Saran Stewart, 2020-02-01 As academics in postcolonial Caribbean countries we have been trained to believe that research should be objective a measurable benefit to the public good and quantifiable in nature so as to generalize findings to develop knowledge societies for economic growth What happens however when the very word research connotes a derogatory term or semblance of distrust Smith 1999 speaks towards the distrustful nature of the term as a legacy of European imperialism and colonialism Against this backdrop how do Caribbean researchers leverage recognized and valued indigenous methods of knowing and understanding for and by the Caribbean populace How do we learn from indigenous research methods such as Kaupapa Maori Smith 1999 and develop an understanding of research that is emancipatory in nature Decolonizing qualitative methods are rooted in critical theory and grounded in social justice resistance change and emancipatory research for and by the Other Said 1978 Rodney s 1969 legacy of groundings provides a Caribbean oriented ethnographic approach to collecting data about people and culture It is an anti imperialist method of data collection focused on the socioeconomic and political environment within the post colonial context Similar to Rodney other critical Caribbean scholars have moved the research discourse to center on the notions of resistance struggle Chevannes 1995 Feraria 2009 and decolonizing methodologies This proposed edited volume will provide a collective body of scholarship for innovative uses of decolonizing qualitative research In order to theorize and conduct decolonizing research one can argue that the researcher as self and as the Other needs to be interrogated Borrowing from an autoethnographic ontology the researcher or investigator recognizes the self as the unit of measure and there is a concerted effort to continuously see the self seeing the self through and as the other Alexander 2005 Ellis 2004 This level of interrogation may require frameworks such as Reasonable Humanism in which there is a clear understanding of the role of the researcher and researched from a physiological and psychosocial standpoint Thereafter the researcher is better prepared to enter into a discourse about decolonizing methodologies The origins of qualitative inquiry in the Caribbean can be traced to political and economic discourses Marxism postcolonialism neocolonialism capitalism liberalism postmodernism which have challenged ways of knowing and the construction of knowledge Evans 2009 traced the origins of qualitative inquiry to slave narratives proprietor s journals missionaries reports and travelogues Common to the Caribbean is an understanding of how colonial legacies of research have ridiculed oral traditions language and ways of knowing often rendering them valueless and inconsequential This proposed edited volume acknowledges the significance of decolonizing approaches to qualitative research in the Caribbean and the wider Caribbean diaspora It includes an audience of scholars teacher researchers and students primarily in and across the humanities social sciences and educational studies This proposed volume would provide much needed knowledge and best practice strategies to the community of researchers engaged in decolonizing methodologies Additionally this volume will allow readers to think of new imaginings of research design that deconstruct power and privilege to benefit knowledge communities and participants It will spark key objectives directions and frameworks for deeper discussions and interrogations of normative westernized and hegemonic approaches to qualitative research Lastly the volume will welcome empirical studies of application of decolonizing methodologies and theoretical studies that frame critical discourse Perspectives on Jamaica in the Seventies Carl Stone, Aggrey Brown, 1981
