Incentivizing and retaining public servants in remote areas: A discrete choice experiment with agricultural extension agents in Ethiopia Regassa, Mekdim D., Abate, Gashaw T., Kubik, Zaneta, 2020-07-08 Increased deployment of agricultural extension agents EAs in rural areas is grounded on their importance to spur agricultural productivity and mitigate spatial imbalances in welfare However the high turnover and the low motivation levels of EAs in remote areas pose challenges for equitable service provision and in some cases exacerbates geographic disparities We assess the effectiveness of selected potential policy interventions to incentivize and retain EAs in remote areas of Ethiopia To this end we conducted a choice experiment to elicit preferences for job attributes of 761 EAs We applied a random parameters logit model to estimate parameters of interest and to simulate the impact of possible policy interventions The main results show that offering continuing education opportunities after two years of service increases uptake of an extension job in remote locations by 77 percentage points which is significantly higher than the effect from doubling current salary levels 70 percentage points EAs also expressed a strong preference for work environments with basic amenities housing transportation services and well-equipped Farmer Training Centers FTCs Furthermore the results from sub sample analyses show that female EAs are less responsive to pecuniary incentives and are more concerned with the availability of infrastructure and services Current salary levels years of employment and location of work are also important sources of heterogeneity in the response of EAs to potential policy changes

Blended and Online Learning John Bailey, Carri Schneider, Tom Vander Ark, 2013-10-09 Our nation's schools stand at an important inflection point in the history of education. Taken together, the implementation of common college and career standards, the shift to next generation assessments, the availability of affordable devices, and the growing number of high quality digital instructional tools create an unprecedented opportunity to fundamentally shift the education system to personalize learning around the individual needs of every student. Digital Learning Now (DLN), a national initiative under the Foundation for Excellence in Education (ExcellinEd) in association with Getting Smart, brings Navigating the Digital Shift: Implementation Strategies for Blended and Online Learning to readers interested in exploring the implementation challenges at the intersection of these shifts. Co-authored by John Bailey, Carri Schneider, and Tom Vander Ark, Navigating the Digital Shift offers updated versions of the eight papers originally released in the DLN Smart Series, including contributions from 11 additional co-authors representing leading organizations such as Public Impact, the International Association for K-12 Online Learning (iNACOL), and The Learning Accelerator. Topics include blended learning, implementation, teaching conditions, and careers, competency-based learning, student data, online learning, myths, and student-based funding. Jeb Bush, Governor of Florida from 1999-2007 and Chairman of ExcellinEd, contends that the book provides policymakers and education leaders the tools they need to use digital learning as a catalyst for improved student achievement. AASA 2013 Superintendent of the Year, Dr. Mark Edwards, believes the collection provides meaningful, practical, and poignant advice, as well as commentary regarding the move to college and career-ready standards associated with the shift to personal online learning and digital resources. Rhode Island's Commissioner of Elementary and Secondary Education, Deborah Gist, describes the book as an invaluable resource that will help educators reimagine what our schools can look like and what our students can accomplish.
