Business Operations Report ,1999 The Great Power Competition Volume 1 Adib Farhadi,Anthony J. Masys,2021-06-22 Over the past decade the international political system has come to be characterized as a Great Power Competition in which multiple would be hegemons compete for power and influence Instead of a global climate of unchallenged United States dominance revisionist powers notably China and Russia alongside other regional powers are vying for dominance through political military and economic means A critical battleground in the Great Power Competition is the Middle East the Horn of Africa and the Central Asia South Asia CASA also known as the Central Region With the planned withdrawal of U S military forces from Afghanistan the U S has stated its intention of shifting attention away from the CASA Region in favor of a more isolationist foreign policy approach This book provides an in depth understanding of the implications for this shift related to regional diplomacy politics economic opportunities rivalries security considerations interests and the information environment Amplifying the vital importance of success in the Central Region to U S prosperity and security this volume advances dialogue in identifying key issues for stakeholders within and beyond the Central Region to gain a holistic perspective that better informs decision making at various levels This collection of work comes from scholars strategic thinkers and subject matter experts who participated in the Great Power Competition Conference hosted by the University of South Florida in partnership with the National Defense University Near East South Asia Center for Strategic Strategies in January 2020      Doing Business in Kazakhstan 2017 Weltbank,2017 Doing Business in Kazakhstan 2017 is the first report of the subnational Doing Business series in Kazakhstan It measures business regulations and their enforcement in four Doing Business areas The objective of the study is to gain a broader understanding of the business regulatory environment across Kazakhstan as well as to provide good practice examples and reform recommendations to help guide policy at the national and subnational levels The study focuses on indicator sets that measure the complexity and cost of regulatory processes affecting four stages in the life of a small to medium size domestic firm starting a business dealing with construction permits getting electricity and registering property These four indicator sets were selected because they relate to areas of business regulation where implementation of the common legal and regulatory framework differs across locations While highly centralized line ministries hold the direct formal authority for the delivery of most services across the territory regions as well as Almaty city and Astana wield local power and authority especially in the areas of getting electricity and dealing with construction permits The indicators are used to analyze economic outcomes and identify what reforms have worked where and why      Handbook for Companies Doing Business in Kazakhstan S.
