Domain-Specific Processors Shuvra S. Bhattacharyya, Ed F. Deprettere, Jörgen Teich, 2003-11-11 Ranging from low level application and architecture optimizations to high level modeling and exploration concerns this authoritative reference compiles essential research on various levels of abstraction appearing in embedded systems and software design It promotes platform based design for improved system implementation and modeling and enhanced Ultra-Low Energy

Domain-Specific Instruction-Set Processors Francky Catthoor, Praveen Raghavan, Andy Lambrechts, Murali Jayapala, Angeliki Kritikakou, Javed Absar, 2010-08-05 Modern consumers carry many electronic devices like a mobile phone digital camera GPS PDA and an MP3 player The functionality of each of these devices has gone through an important evolution over recent years with a steep increase in both the number of features as in the quality of the services that they provide However providing the required compute power to support an uncompromised combination of all this functionality is highly non trivial Designing processors that meet the demanding requirements of future mobile devices requires the optimization of the embedded system in general and of the embedded processors in particular as they should strike the correct balance between flexibility energy efficiency and performance In general a designer will try to minimize the energy consumption as far as needed for a given performance with a sufficient flexibility However achieving this goal is already complex when looking at the processor in isolation but in reality the processor is a single component in a more complex system In order to design such complex system successfully critical decisions during the design of each individual component should take into account effect on the other parts with a clear goal to move to a global Pareto optimum in the complete multi dimensional exploration space In the complex global design of battery operated embedded systems the focus of Ultra Low Energy Domain Specific Instruction Set Processors is on the energy aware architecture exploration of domain specific instruction set processors and the co optimization of the datapath architecture foreground memory and instruction memory organisation with a link to the required mapping techniques or compiler steps at the early stages of the design By performing an extensive energy breakdown experiment for a complete embedded platform both energy and performance bottlenecks have been identified together with the important relations between the different components Based on this knowledge architecture extensions are proposed for all the bottlenecks Low-power Domain-specific Processors for Digital on chip solutions for emerging target applications When diligently applied the strategies and tactics presented can significantly shorten development timelines help avoid common pitfalls and improve the odds of success especially in AI powered smart EDA environments The book provides a detailed insight into SoC based solutions for various applications including artificial intelligence AI post quantum security feature enhancements 3D SOC quantum SOC photonic SOC and SOC solutions for IoT high performance computing SOC and processor based systems The coverage includes architecture exploration methods for targeted applications compute intensive SoCs lightweight SoCs for IOT applications advanced technology node solutions and solutions including hardware software co designs and software defined SoCs The strategies best applied in these highly advanced technology developments are discussed in a guest chapter by a practicing high technology strategist so innovators designers entrepreneurs product managers investors and executives may properly prepare their companies to succeed

Reconstructing Reason and Representation Murray Clarke, 2022-06-07 A study of the philosophical implications of evolutionary psychology suggesting that knowledge is a set of natural kinds housed in the modules of a massively modular mind In Reconstructing Reason and Representation Murray Clarke offers a detailed study of the philosophical implications of evolutionary psychology In doing so he offers new solutions to key problems in epistemology and philosophy of mind including misrepresentation and rationality He proposes a naturalistic approach to reason and representation that is informed by evolutionary psychology and expanding on the massive modularity thesis advanced in work by Leda Cosmides and John Tooby argues for a modular adapticist account of misrepresentation and knowledge Just as the reliability of representation can be defended on the basis of an account of the proper function of cognitive modularity misrepresentation can be explained through an appeal to the gap theory by noting the divergence between the proper and actual domains of cognitive modules in a massively modular mind Clarke argues for an externalist modular reliabilism by suggesting that evolution has equipped us with generally reliable inferential systems even if they do not always produce true beliefs He argues that reliable deductive and inductive inference occurs only when cognitive modules deal with actual domains that are sufficiently similar to their proper domains This psychologically informed naturalized adapticism leads to the suggestion that knowledge is a set of natural kinds housed in the modules of a massively modular mind Typically the proper function of these cognitive modules is to provide us with truths that enable us to satisfy our basic biological needs Beyond reasoning modules other cognitive modules discussed include the ability to orient ourselves in space and our abilities with language numbers object reasoning and social understanding Clarke also defends Cosmides and Tooby s massive modularity hypothesis against such critics as Jerry Fodor by demonstrating that these critics consistently misrepresent Cosmides and Tooby s position
