IUI TREATMENT OPTIONS:

1. Natural cycle Insemination

This option does not involve any medication and follows the woman's natural menstruation cycle.

2. Clomiphene citrate ovulation induction

This option involves the use of medication to stimulate the ovaries and cause or regulate ovulation.

3. FSH ovulation induction

This option involves the use of hormone injections to stimulate the ovaries and cause or regulate ovulation.

OVARIAN STIMULATION

▼ A) Stimulation

The ovaries are stimulated with medication to promote the growth of follicles containing the eggs.

▼ B) Control

The response of the ovaries is monitored with ultrasounds and/or blood tests, to control the size and quantity of follicles.

▼ C) Egg release

To assist with the final maturation of the egg and loosening of the egg from the follicle wall, an injection of Human Chorionic Gonadotrophin (hCG) - the trigger - is administered.

INSEMINATION

D) Sperm

► Using donor sperm - frozen sperm

- Sperm sample is obtained from either a:
- Recipient-recruited donor (known donor)
 - Clinic-recruited donor (unknown donor)

► E) Sperm selection

The frozen donor sperm is thawed and washed, and the live mobile sperm are selected for insemination.

► F) Insemination

The final sperm preparation is gently inserted into the uterine cavity using a speculum and a disposable catheter to bypass the cervix.

PREGNANCY TEST

The pregnancy test will be performed approximately 2 weeks after insemination.
