Osterwald,2004-01-01 Guidebook describes scenic viewpoints plants wildlife geology history along the route Many photographs and maps Rails Around Durango Allan C. Lewis,2006 In the 1880s the Denver Rio Grande began building its three foot railroad toward the San Juan Mountains alongside the Animas River and the budding community of Durango The D RG quickly established itself in Durango constructing a depot as well as a 45 mile connection to the regional mining hub of Silverton Over 60 years the towns the railroad and the mines it served would weather plummeting silver values and a turbulent economy By the end of World War II declining freight volumes left the future of the railroad in doubt but by the late 1940s a growing number of train enthusiasts were journeying to Durango for one last ride The new popularity of the Silverton Branch brought rail fans to the area in increasing numbers through the 1950s Today the Durango Silverton Narrow Gauge Railroad continues to preserve the region s railroading past and has become a unique aspect of the history of Southwestern Colorado All Aboard! ,2015 America's Railroad Robert T. Royem,2007 Durango & Silverton Sam Furukawa,Bob Hayden,2009 Edited and with text and captions by Bob Hayden T p verso Tracking the Narrow Gauge from Chama to Durango Mike Butler,2022-02-21 In the late 1800s Denver and Rio Grande Railroad founder William Jackson Palmer had a dream of building a railroad from Denver south to Mexico City While his dream ended at Santa Fe New Mexico greater profits were realized by extending his narrow gauge railroad west across Colorado and New Mexico to Durango and the mines at Silverton Rocky Mountain railfans and history buffs have long been familiar with the two remaining segments of the Denver and Rio Grande Railroad s narrow gauge route the Durango and Silverton Narrow Gauge Railroad and the Cumbres and Toltec Scenic Railroad These two railroads carry thousands of tourists every year But what about the 111 miles between the two What happened to the segment between Chama and Durango Long since abandoned travelers today can track this route along the highways and back roads of Northern New Mexico and Southern Colorado With maps and historic and contemporary photographs this book points the way to rediscovering this lost trackage Branch lines including logging railroads and the Farmington Branch are also included so the traveler has a complete guide to finding this long gone section of the narrow gauge railroad Seasons of the Narrow Gauge Duane A. Smith, Elizabeth A.

Green, 2011-08-15 Though the mining boom has passed the railroad endures riders board the train filled with a sense of adventure and excitement much like their predecessors first did 129 years ago P 4 of cover Interpreting Energy at Museums and Historic Sites Leah S. Glaser, 2022-12-13 Experts all agree that human beings can mitigate climate change by changing how we use energy for heat light movement and production Stewards of heritage sites and collections can engage the public at the grassroots level to raise awareness about the cultural and socioeconomic reasons for past choices that have contributed to climate change This book will help cultural institutions identify ways to interpret new stories through historic places and resources especially if staff have made the commitment to go green Without place based context discussions about energy focus primarily on the science and not the human experience By reminding us of our past practices and values regarding energy production and use historic places can inspire different ways of thinking about transitioning to different energy sources and question the doctrine that high energy use is necessary for progress Public interpretation can expose the vast energy infrastructure and the impact of energy extraction production and use on place Historic sites offer place based contexts for visitors to interact with and think critically about the processes and the impact of energy development in for example a maritime village This book synthesizes science with the humanities outside of popular media and other politicized spaces to identify different kinds of energy resources in many historic collections or sites It supplements current calls for economic and policy changes because as stewards of historic places we need to do what we can in this all hands on deck moment to prepare for shared stewardship of our future All Aboard!.
