Dutch and Flemish Literature as World Literature

Theo D'haen, 2019-07-25 The recent return of world literature to the centre of literary studies has entailed an increased attention to non European literatures but in turn has also further marginalized Europe's smaller literatures Dutch and Flemish Literature as World Literature shows how Dutch language literature from its very beginnings in the Middle Ages to the present has not only always taken its cue from the major literary traditions of Europe and beyond but has also actively contributed to and influenced these traditions The contributors to this book focus on key works and authors providing a concise yet highly readable history of Dutch language literature and demonstrating how this literature is anchored in world literature

Dutch and Flemish-two Literatures Or One? Reinder P. Meijer, 1973

Transcultural Modernities Elisabeth

Bekers, Sissy Helff, Daniela Merolla, 2009 The swelling flows of migration from Africa towards Europe have aroused interest not only in the socio political consequences of the migrants insistent appeals to fortress Europe but also in the artistic integration of African migrants into the cultural world of Europe While in recent years the creative output of Africans living in Europe has received attention from the media and in academia little critical consideration has been given to African migrants modes of narration and the manner in which these modes give expression to or are an expression of their creators transcultural realities Transcultural Modernities Narrating Africa in Europe responds to this need for reflection by examining the manner in which migrants compose and negotiate their Euro African affiliations in their narratives The book brings together scholars in the fields of literary and art criticism cultural studies and anthropology for an extensive interdisciplinary exchange on the specific modes of narration displayed in Euro African literatures the visual arts and cinema as well as offering ethnographic case studies The result is a wide range of reflections on how African artists writers and ordinary people living in Europe experience and explore their transcultural and or postcolonial environments and how their experiences and explorations in turn contribute to the construction of modern Euro African life worlds

The Practice of Philology in the Nineteenth-Century Netherlands Ton Kalmthout, Huib Zuidervaart, 2025-10-01 The Netherlands have a long and important tradition in scholarly philology For instance in the early days of Leiden University philology or the critical examination of classical texts was regarded as a cutting edge science This field of scholarship had far reaching implications on disciplines such as theology chronology astronomy history law and other demarcated bodies of knowledge identified as a separate science Regardless of the exact field of inquiry philologists as protectors and teachers of the written heritage always played a pivotal role in the formation of the cultural repertoire of the educated public As men of learning and high esteem philologists also exerted influence outside the cultural sphere especially in politics and religion The ever changing composition of the philological frame of reference made no difference in this respect But in the nineteenth century the practice of philology was passing a crucial phase of change In both its object of study and in its methods several fundamental modifications occurred Texts in the vernacular and national philologies attracted more and more attention of the public and neo philology succeeded in taking over the central position traditionally occupied by classical philology Subfields such as linguistics edition technique and history grew into new more or less independent sub disciplines whereas scientific methods such as stemmatology and comparative approaches were introduced in the humanities This redesigned the landscape of philology radically New boundaries became apparent and existing ones were questioned or drawn sharper At the time philology underwent an accelerated process of differentiation and professionalization Philology demarcated its own more or less independent sphere with a specific authority The establishment of a branch of national philology can be regarded as an example of discipline formation in the humanities This fascinating process of change and the search for new boundaries in Dutch philology is highlighted in this book The Practice of Philology in the Netherlands in the Nineteenth Century the first book on this topic in the English language Felicity Rash,Christophe Declercq,2018-07-02 This book addresses the many avenues that are still left unexplored when it comes to our understanding of the First World War in the Low Countries With the ongoing the centenary of the Great War many events have been organized in the United Kingdom to commemorate its military events its socio political consequences and its cultural legacy Of these events very few have paid attention to the fates of Belgium or the Netherlands even though it was the invasion of Belgium in August 1914 that was the catalyst for Great Britain declaring war The occupation of Belgium had long term consequences for its people but much of the military and social history of the Western Front concentrates on northern France and the Netherlands is largely forgotten as a nation affected by the First World War By opening the field beyond the military and beyond the front this collection explores the interdisciplinary and international nature of the Great War
