Terminal Care Loma Feigenberg,1980 Dying with Cancer Pam Brown,Julie Davies,CancerBACUP.,2000-05-31 This booklet explains what happens at the end of life and how to plan for this difficult time It discusses the difficulties many people experience in coping with the news talking about the dying process and accepting the strong emotions that they feel The Death of Cancer Vincent T. DeVita,Elizabeth DeVita-Raeburn,2015-11-03 Cancer touches everybody s life in one way or another But most of us know very little about how the disease works why we treat it the way we do and the personalities whose dedication got us where we are today For fifty years Dr Vincent T DeVita Jr has been one of those key players he has held just about every major position in the field and he developed the first successful chemotherapy treatment for Hodgkin s lymphoma a breakthrough the American Society of Clinical Oncologists has called the top research advance in half a century of chemotherapy As one of oncology s leading figures DeVita knows what cancer looks like from the lab bench and the bedside The Death of Cancer is his illuminating and deeply personal look at the science and the history of one of the world s most formidable diseases In DeVita s hands even the most complex medical concepts are comprehensible Cowritten with DeVita s daughter the science writer Elizabeth DeVita Raeburn The Death of Cancer is also a personal tale about the false starts and major breakthroughs the strong willed oncologists who clashed with conservative administrators and one another and the courageous patients whose willingness to test cutting edge research helped those oncologists find potential treatments An emotionally compelling and informative read TheDeath of Cancer is also a call to arms DeVita believes that we re well on our way to curing cancer but that there are things we need to change in order to get there Mortality rates are declining but America s cancer patients are still being shortchanged by timid doctors by misguided national agendas by compromised bureaucracies and by a lack of access to information about the strengths and weaknesses of the nation s cancer centers With historical depth and authenticity DeVita reveals the true story of the fight against cancer The Death of Cancer is an ambitious vital book about a life and death subject that touches us all

Dying with Cancer Debbie Coats,2004 Promoting a Good Death for Cancer Patients of Asian Culture June M. Mak,2009-11 There are few enough studies of the needs of dying people in the Western world but no accessible studies of the needs of dying people in Asian cultures Now in this pioneering work Dr Mui Hing June Mak shows us how a Good Death expresses itself in Hong Kong and also how this ideal varies and is modified in other Asian societies as this is observed in their own often inaccessible literature The author offers a comprehensive review of the literature on dying conduct and needs from several Asian perspectives and also provides a perceptive analysis of the lessons to be learnt from her qualitative study which employed a Grounded Theory methodology to understand the experiences and end of life needs of cancer patients in hospice care in Hong Kong A relation based theory Harmonious Death is developed She also makes several suggestions to translate these theoretical concepts into practice Dr Mak brings to her words not only the disciplined eye of a hospice clinician and academic but also a compassionate insight derived from her direct personal experiences Close personal relationship with three dying people were formative of her current research and professional interests and also the driving concern in ensuring that the voices of all the participants in her study are heard clearly sympathetically and poignantly Audience The book will be of interest to teachers students and professionals across the whole
