Doing Without Adam And Eve Sociobiology And Original Sin:

Doing Without Adam and Eve Patricia A. Williams, 2001-06-19 In this provocative new addition to the Theology and the Sciences series Patricia Williams assays the original sin doctrine with a scientific lens and based on sociobiology offers an alternative Christian account of human nature's foibles and future. Focusing on the Genesis 2 and 3 account Williams shows how its historical interpretation in early Christianity not only misread the text but derived an idea of being human profoundly at odds with experience and contemporary science. After gauging Christianity's several competing notions of human nature Protestant Catholic and Orthodox against contemporary biology Williams turns to sociobiological accounts of the evolution of human dispositions toward reciprocity and limited cooperation as a source of human good and evil. From this vantage point she offers new interpretations of evil sin and the Christian doctrine of atonement. Williams's work frank in its assessment of traditional misunderstandings challenges theologians and all Christians to reassess the roots and branches of this linchpin doctrine.

The Voice of Public Theology Ted Peters, 2022-11-07 Public theologians are already thundering like prophets at climate change and racial injustice. But the gale force winds of natural science blow through society as well. The public theologian should be on storm watch.

Christian Inversion of Jewish Nationalist Monotheism, and its Modern Romantic-Narcissist Betrayal Patrick Madigan, 2023-11-03 This is a history of Western culture divided into two parts. The first concerns the aggressive championing of monotheism by Jewish people as their distinctive national culture although they only fell into or embraced it late in their development. Jesus offended by proposing an inversion of the divine protocols and an agenda more in harmony with international political realities the one God proposed to use the Jews to reach and transform the entire human race which was the actual object of His redemptive and creative energies. With the Renaissance widening opportunities for study travel learning and discovery authorities had greater difficulty justifying limitations on individuals' freedom of expression of heterodox artistic political philosophical or religious positions. This book explores the difficult modern psychological adjustment of dealing with a world with diminishing centers of authority where it often seems as if no one is in charge while also doing justice to one's feelings of frustration and lack of fulfillment without becoming a radical narcissist.

Reformed Theology and Evolutionary Theory Gijsbert Van den Brink, 2020-02-25 Many books aim to help beginners explore whether or not evolutionary science is compatible with Christian faith. This one probes more deeply to ask: What do we learn from modern evolutionary science about key issues that are of special theological concern? And what does Christian theology especially in its Reformed expressions say about those same key issues? Gijsbert van den Brink begins by describing the layers of meaning in the phrase evolutionary theory and exploring the question of how to interpret the Bible with regard to science. He then works through five key areas of potential conflict between evolutionary theory and Christian faith spelling out scientific findings and analyzing Christian doctrinal concerns along the way. His conclusion although some traditional doctrinal interpretations must be adjusted evolutionary science is no obstacle to classical Christian faith.

Selfish Genes and Christian Ethics Neil Messer, 2007-03-30 The evolutionary origins of human beings and in particular the origins of human morality have always attracted debate and speculation not just in the academic community but in popular science and the wider general population as well The arguments and explanations put forward over the years seem to thoroughly catch the popular imagination but there is the danger that these explanations tend to step outside the bounds of scientific theory and become powerful popular myths instead In Neil Messer's Selfish Genes and Christian Ethics the author is challenging this tendency Instead he provides a Christian theological anthropology which among other things aims to give Christians and the churches the confidence to engage with assumptions that evolutionary theory and religious beliefs are untenable This is a valuable resource for anyone engaged in the study of theology providing the reader with the ability to consider both the theoretical and the practical questions raised by evolutionary discussions of ethics and morality

Evolution and the Fall Cavanaugh & Smith, 2017 What does it mean for the Christian doctrine of the Fall if there was no historical Adam If humanity emerged from nonhuman primates as genetic biological and archaeological evidence seems to suggest then what are the implications for a Christian understanding of human origins including the origin of sin Evolution and the Fall gathers a multidisciplinary ecumenical team of scholars to address these difficult questions and others like them from the perspectives of biology theology history Scripture philosophy and politics CONTRIBUTORS William T Cavanaugh Celia Deane Drummond Darrel R Falk Joel B Green Michael Gulker Peter Harrison J Richard Middleton Aaron Riches James K A Smith Brent Waters Norman Wirzba

Retrieving Augustine's Doctrine of Creation Gavin Ortlund, 2020-07-14 How might premodern exegesis of Genesis inform Christian debates about creation today Pastor and theologian Gavin Ortlund retrieves Augustine's reading of Genesis 1:3 and considers how his premodern understanding of creation can help Christians today shedding light on matters such as evolution animal death and the historical Adam and Eve

Theology as an Ecclesial Discipline J Augustine Di Noia, 2024-07 The practice of theology depends in part on asking the right questions Not any sorts of questions not idle questions nor questions framed entirely by our own experience or the great issues of our times but good theological questions focus the mind of the inquirer on the endlessly intelligible self revelation of God to which the Sacred Scripture bears witness Our own questions and the great questions of our times have a place as long as they are purged of the ideological outlooks that can suppress or obscure the questions that the sacra pagina

itself presses upon us Among the essays gathered in Theology as an Ecclesial Discipline the first set directs the reader's attention precisely to questions that trace the distinctive features of the nature of theology itself What are the principles and scope of the field of theology as practiced by believers in an ecclesial context Are historical critical methods of exegesis compatible with a properly theological interpretation of the Scriptures How can theology have a place in the academy as an intellectual discipline if the Magisterium seems to limit the scope of its inquiries The second part considers a range of questions that preoccupy contemporary Protestant and Catholic theologians Can the names Father Son and Holy Spirit be replaced by more inclusive titles in doctrine and liturgy By placing humanity at the center of theological investigation is Christian humanism distinct from secular humanism How can we be guilty of a sin committed by our first ancestors Can the Christian vision of procreative human sexuality survive the cultural onslaught of the sexual revolution The questions in the third part of this book arise from Catholic dialogue with non-Christian religions or with other Christian communities or with conceptions of a cosmos in ecological crisis Is there a future for Catholic theology of religions How can people who do not believe in Christ be saved Is the cosmos a safe environment for human beings or alternatively how can the cosmos be protected from human depredation Can the concept of church stretch far enough to encompass Christian communities that see themselves as strictly local and independent bodies

Barbour is the internationally acknowledged pioneer in the field of science and religion Although public opinion is often swayed by strident voices which attempt to place science and religion in conflict or keep them totally isolated Barbour's voluminous contributions over the past fifty years have carved out a trusted pathway to constructive dialogue and creative mutual interaction between science and religion Fifty Years in Science and Religion brings together nineteen leading scholars in the field to offer an appreciative yet critical assessment of the impact of Barbour's work on science and religion and to point ahead towards future critical areas goals and tasks that await new research and visionary exploration This book includes a unique autobiography by Barbour in which for the first time he shares and reflects on his life and work and a detailed bibliography of Barbour's works Together the authors demonstrate how Barbour's writings and the hundreds of scholars who have now become part of the field have changed the course of intellectual history in the West by making possible and necessary a truly constructive engagement between science and religion in the context of inter-religious dialogue and the global human and environmental challenges of our time

Perspectives on Science and Christian Faith, 2007 Permutations of Sin in Hispanic Literature, 2002 Eden's Garden Richard J. Coleman, 2007 In Eden's Garden Rethinking Sin and Evil in an Era of Scientific Promise Richard Coleman examines the notion of sin in a contemporary world that values scientific and nonreligious modes of thought regarding human behavior This work is not an anti-science polemic but rather an argument to show how sin and evil can make sense to the nonreligious mind and how it is valuable to make sense of such phenomena Examining themes in religion philosophy and theology it is ideal for use in the
