Doing Research A Handbook For Teachers:

Doing Research Rob Walker, 1985 Doing Teacher-Research Wolff-Michael Roth, 2007-01-01 There are many teachers who think about doing research in their own classes and schools but who are perplexed by what appears to be involved This book is intended for these perplexed practitioners to provide them with an easily understandable narrative about the concrete praxis of doing research in their classrooms or in those of their teacher peers teaching next door or in the same school The fundamental idea underlying this book is to provide an easily accessible but nevertheless intellectually honest text that allows teachers to increase their agency with respect to better understanding their praxis and the events in their classrooms by means of research The author draws on his experience of doing teacher research while being a high school teacher and department head Roth uses six concrete research studies that he has conducted alone or with peers to describe the salient parts of any teacher researcher investigation including what topic to study issues of ethics and permissions from students school and parents how and what sources to collect how to structure resources how to construct data from the materials how to derive claims and how to write a report research study Roth chose the case based approach because cases provide the details necessary for understanding why and how he as teacher researcher has made certain decisions and what he would do differently today Using this case based approach he allows readers to tie methods choices to situations that they likely are familiar with Teachers Doing Research Gail E. Burnaford, 2000-11-01 This popular text describes the processes of doing teacher action research But it is much more than a dry presentation of methods Filled with examples of teacher action research projects provided by teachers themselves the book places teachers at the heart of the action research process Teachers own writing about their work and research questions is featured in 11 examples of teacher action research conducted in a range of settings grade levels and content areas The second edition of Teachers Doing Research is fully updated and substantially reorganized and revised including four totally new chapters and six new teacher stories This edition provides more specifics on teacher action research processes and a variety of methodological options for teachers who do research in their classrooms and schools Chapters 1 5 includes more specifics on data collection and interpretation methods Chapter 3 balances a detailed introduction to technology for novice researchers with discussion of issues and questions related to technology based teacher research Chapter 4 Information on Web sites related to topics addressed in the chapters and teacher research stories is integrated throughout the book A new Teachers Doing Research Web site www.teachersdoingresearch.com invites readers teacher research participants preservice candidates and teacher educators to participate in dialogue with the authors and editors of this text and with each other gives expanded attention to teacher action research with preservice teachers and to university school collaboration especially in Chapter 6 examines the connections between teacher action research and the larger arena of educational research Chapter 8 broadens the context for teacher action research through discussion of its influence on school reform both in the United States and internationally
