Dombey And Son:

Dombey and Son Charles Dickens, 2013-12-01 Paul Dombey is a heartless London merchant who runs his domestic affairs as he runs his business. In the tight orbit of his daily life there is no room for dealing with emotions because emotion has no market value. In his son he sees the future of his firm and the continuation of his name while he neglects his affectionate daughter until he decides to get rid of her beloved, a lowly clerk. But Dombey's weakness is his pride and he falls prey to the treacherous flattery of others. Combining an intricate plot, vivid language and Dickens's customary social commentary, Dombey and Son explores the possibility of moral and emotional redemption through familial love. Dombey and Son

description As Jonathan Lethem contends in his Introduction Dickens's genius is at one with the genius of the form of the novel itself Dickens willed into existence the most capacious and elastic and versatile kind of novel that could be one big enough for his vast sentimental yearnings and for every impulse and fear and hesitation in him that countervailed those yearnings too Never parsimonious and frequently contradictory he always gives us everything he can everything he's planned to give and then more Dombey and Son is the earliest novel of Dickens for which a complete set of working notes survives Dickens called these notes mems witch is short for memoranda The mems allowed him to keep track of complicated plot lines and the many characters that populate his novels These working notes for Dombey and Son reveal that young Paul Dombey was doomed to die from the first moment that Dickens created him Although he did live for one chapter longer than Dickens originally intended Walter Gay was originally intended to go bad was saved from that fate Edith the second Mrs Dombey was bound for adultery and death but Dickens spared her character at the urgings of his friend Lord Jeffrey Includes vintage illustration

Successfully said they both together Then added Doctor Parker Peps alone and very gravely a crisis might arise which we should both sincerely deplore With that they stood for a few seconds looking at the ground Then on the motion made in dumb show of Doctor Parker Peps they went upstairs the family practitioner opening the room door for that distinguished professional and following him out with most obsequious politeness To record of Mr Dombey that he was not in his way affected by this intelligence would be to do him an injustice He was not a man of whom it could properly be said that he was ever startled or shocked but he certainly had a sense within him that if his wife should sicken and decay he would be very sorry and that he would find a something gone from among his plate and furniture and other household possessions which was well worth the having and could not be lost without sincere regret Though it would be a cool business like gentlemanly self possessed reg
