Due Process in Nigeria's Administrative Law System Oneyebuchi T. Uwakah, 1997 This book which relies on primary and secondary printed sources and a series of interviews with affected persons lawyers judges and customary court presidents in Nigeria focuses on the place of due process in the Nigerian legal system Uwakah is concerned about the abuse of this important fundamental right in his country The purpose of the book is to examine how due process operates in Nigeria and whether the coexistence of the customary law the English common law the Moslem law and the martial law systems in Nigeria hinders or enhances due process in the country Finally the study investigates the suitability of the British version of due process to Nigeria since the concept is imported to the country The book concludes that the British version of due process is unsuitable to Nigeria because the country's political economic social and religious backgrounds substantially differ from those of Britain This conclusion is premised on the consensus of the interviewees Uwakah recommends the country's immediate transition from military to civilian rule

Intersectionality and Women's Access to Justice in Africa J. Jarpa Dawuni, 2022-10-17 Intersectionality and Women's Access to Justice edited by J Jarpa Dawuni propounds layered intersectionality as a paradigm for examining how gendered factors affect women's access to justice whether as judges or litigants Through intersectional and decolonial frameworks the contributors analyze the lived experiences of women and their access to justice by situating the courtroom as both a spatial and a temporal arena for seeking justice as litigants and for seeking access to the bench as judges This book examines patterns of mutually reinforcing discriminatory practices that women share based on common gender identities and depending on which identities are at play at a given point in time in both traditional and statutory courts The book provides recommendations for various justice sector providers

International Courts and the African Woman Judge Josephine Jarpa Dawuni, Hon. Akua Kuenyehia, 2017-11-28 A sequel to Bauer and Dawuni's pioneering study on gender and the judiciary in Africa Routledge 2016 International Courts and the African Woman Judge examines questions on gender diversity representative benches and international courts by focusing on women judges from the continent of Africa Drawing from postcolonial feminism feminist institutionalism feminist legal theory and legal narratives this book provides fresh and detailed narratives of seven women judges that challenge existing discourse on gender diversity in international courts It answers important questions about how the politics of judicial appointments gender geographic location class and professional capital combine to shape the lives of women judges who sit on international courts and argues the need to disaggregate gender diversity with a view to understanding intra group differences International Courts and the African Woman Judge will be of interest to a variety of audiences including governments policy makers civil society organizations students of gender studies and feminist activists interested in all questions of gender and judging Promoting Foreign Judgments Pontian N. Okoli, 2019-10-07 In many African countries litigants experience significant uncertainty in their attempts to enforce foreign judgments Drawing on the experiences of the United Kingdom and the United States vis vis efforts to attain an effective global legal framework on foreign judgments this book undertakes a comparative analysis of how South African and Nigerian courts can promote the recognition and enforcement of foreign judgments in a fair manner This comparative analysis is made considering both African countries as paradigms of their respective legal traditions The author a legal consultant and academic in private international law analyses stage by stage the challenging process that litigants face when they seek to enforce foreign judgments in South Africa and Nigeria This analysis includes insightful consideration of broader issues such as the following how challenges faced by judgment creditors may be circumvented practical issues impeding the free movement of foreign judgments impact of globalisation increase in international commercial transactions and regionalism on private international law application of fairness how territorial sovereignty and State interests in international commerce impede the free movement of foreign judgments and qualified obligation under which courts would presumptively enforce foreign judgments subject to certain exceptions and to the balancing of competing interests between private litigants and the State The comparative analysis is undergirded by relevant case law spanning decades in Africa and centuries in Europe and the United States In summary the author projects a clear case for predictability and certainty in the recognition and enforcement of foreign judgments as well as how to go about it thus offering lawyers a strategic position to weigh their options in contemplating enforcement of foreign judgments in any jurisdiction even beyond the African region This innovative approach will also be of particular value to policymakers at national levels international and regional economic organisations as well as scholars in private international law and international commercial law generally This is regardless of their specific legal area or niche especially considering the dearth of literature in African private international law Commitment and Due Process Kabiru Isa Dandago, Kabir Tahir Hamid, 2006 Due Process in Nigeria's Administrative Law System Onyebuchi T.
