Dying Death And Bereavement:

Understanding Dying, Death, and Bereavement Michael R. Leming, George E. Dickinson, 1990 Using a social psychological approach the new edition of this book remains solidly grounded in theory and research while also providing useful information to help individuals examine their own feelings about and cope with death and grieving The well known authors and researchers integrate stimulating personal accounts throughout the text and apply concepts to specific examples that deal with cross cultural perspectives and the practical matters of death and dying Understanding Dying, Death, and Bereavement Michael R. Leming, George E. Dickinson, 1985 Using a social psychological approach the new edition of this book remains solidly grounded in theory and research while also providing useful information to help individuals examine their own feelings about and cope with death and grieving The well known authors and researchers integrate stimulating personal accounts throughout the text and apply concepts to specific examples that deal with cross cultural perspectives and the practical matters of death and dying Dying, Death, and Bereavement Inge Corless, RN, PhD, FAAN, Inge B. Corless, Barbara B. Germino, Mary A. Pittman, DrPH, 2006-06-02 Based on practice knowledge of the authors rather than on research this book may be particularly useful for those professionals who have not had hands on experience with people at the last stages of dying It is a resource that can be referred to time and again by those who care for people facing the final stage of life Annual Editions Dickinson, George E. Dickinson, 1997-09 The book is meant as a supplement to augment selected areas or chapters of regular textbooks on dying and death The articles in this volume can also serve as a basis for class discussion about various issues in dying death and bereavement To the reader Dving, Death, and Dying, Death and Bereavement in a British Hindu Community Shirley Firth, 1997 This Bereavement Lewis R. Aiken, 1994 study is an exploration of the religious beliefs attitudes traditions and rituals of a British hindu community with respect to dying death and bereavement The observations of this community are compared with material obtained during three months of fieldwork in India and ethnographic sources The primary focus of this study is on individual Hindus seen in the context of their family and community their beliefs experiences and perceptions about death and their reactions to the changes that take place It also examines the process of adaptation and change in the death rituals and the role of the pandits in maintaining continuity The first part of this study sets the context introducing the issues confronting Hindus facing death and bereavement in Britain It discusses theoretical issues in a multicultural study as well as beliefs about death and life after death In the second part Hindu ritual practices around death are explored using a model of nine stages from preparation for death to the final post mortem and annual ancestral rituals The third part explores the social and psychological dimensions of death grief and mourning the implications of death in hospital and the professional and bureaucratic issues which affect Hindu deaths in Britain The social aspects of mourning are discussed with reference to pollution the role of the family and community young people and widows Finally the author examines the implications of social changes for British Hindus and
