Dynamic Symmetry And Holistic Asymmetry In Navajo And Western Art And Cosmology:

Dynamic Symmetry and Holistic Asymmetry in Navajo and Western Art and Cosmology Gary Witherspoon, Glen Peterson, 1995 Explores the relationship between the cultural roots of the Navajo and the aesthetic forms and styles in their sandpainting weaving and silverwork Finds in the work a symmetry of the whole derived from the fundamentally asymmetrical Holy Pair embodied in the Changing Woman and shows how that pattern is observable in other modern art and science

The Anthropology of Love and Anger Joanna Overing, Alan Passes, 2002-01-04 The Anthropology of Love and Anger questions the very foundations of western sociological thought In their examination of indigenous peoples from across the South American continent the contributors to this volume have come to realise that western thought does not possess the vocabulary to define even the fundamentals of indigenous thought and practice The dualisms of public and private political and domestic individual and collective even male and female in which western anthropology was founded cannot legitimately be applied to peoples whose sociality is based on an aesthetics of community For indigenous people success is measured by the extent to which conviviality all that is peaceful harmonious and sociable has been attained Yet conviviality is not just reliant on love and good but instead on an even balance between all that is constructive love and all that is destructive anger With case studies from across the South American region ranging from the so called fierce Yanomami of Venezuela and Brazil to the Enxet of Paraguay and with discussions on topics from the efficacy of laughter the role of language anger as a marker of love and even homesickness The Anthropology of Love and Anger is a seminal fascinating work which should be read by all students and academics in the post colonial world

Alien Visions Margaret Ziolkowski, 2005 There are many parallels and some revealing differences in the encounter between on the one hand the Americans and various Indian tribes and on the other the Russians and some of the peoples of the Caucasus and Siberia The enduring cultural consequences of these encounters provide a fruitful area of inquiry for the comparative examination of national images in literatures The major focus on this study is the perceptions and literary portrayal of the Chechens by the Russians and the Navajos by the Americans Both the Chechen in Russian literature and the Navajo in American literature are often constructs images derived from a potent combination of prejudices and received assumptions In each case a relatively sizable corpus of writings produced over a century or longer exemplifies or attempts to counter persistent and influential modes of cultural stereotyping The diachronic analysis of the portrayal of either the Chechens or the Navajos illuminates patterns of prejudice that have immense implications for both popular and high culture The juxtaposition of the discussion of the two groups as they have been treated in Russian and American literature can deepen our understanding of the commonalities present in attempted cultural domination or ethnic idealization Margaret Ziolkowski is Professor of Russian at Miami University Ohio

Diné Peter Iverson, 2002-08-28 This comprehensive narrative traces the history of the Navajos from their origins to the beginning of the twenty first century Based on extensive archival research traditional accounts interviews historic and
