Holding It Together Jessica Calarco, 2024-06-04 Other countries have social safety nets The U S has women Holding It Together chronicles the causes and dire consequences America runs on women women who are tasked with holding society together at the seams and fixing it when things fall apart In this tour de force acclaimed Sociologist Jessica Calarco lays bare the devastating consequences of our status quo Holding It Together draws on five years of research in which Calarco surveyed over 4000 parents and conducted more than 400 hours of interviews with women who bear the brunt of our broken system A widowed single mother struggles to patch together meager public benefits while working three jobs an aunt is pushed into caring for her niece and nephew at age fifteen once their family is shattered by the opioid epidemic a daughter becomes the backstop caregiver for her mother her husband and her child because of the perceived flexibility of her job a well to do couple grapples with the moral dilemma of leaning on overworked underpaid childcare providers to achieve their egalitarian ideals Stories of grief and guilt abound Yet they are more than individual tragedies Tracing present day policies back to their roots Calarco reveals a systematic agreement to dismantle our country's social safety net and persuade citizens to accept precarity while women bear the brunt. She leads us to see women's labor as the reason we've gone so long without the support systems that our peer nations take for granted and how women's work maintains the illusion that we don't need a net. Weaving eye-opening original research with revelatory sociological narrative, Holding It Together is a bold call to demand the institutional change that each of us deserves and a warning about the perils of living without it. The Masculine Worker Versus the Hybrid Citizen Anna Cornelia Korteweg, 2004 Issues for Debate in American Public Policy, 1999 Issues for Debate in American Public Policy is a collection of sixteen editions of The CQ Researcher, one of the most respected sources for research in current issues. Students, interested citizens, government and business leaders, and others will find in these pages reliable and complete information on a wide range of topics. These editions of The CQ Researcher in the tradition of nonpartisan reporting and analysis that is the hallmark of Congressional Quarterly present readers with balanced accounts of issues on the public agenda. CQ staff writers provide background as well as current analysis. Each edition of The CQ Researcher also incorporates the voices of people in the thick of the policy process: people from lobbies, nonprofits, think tanks, academia, and government. U.S. News & World Report, 2007 Women, Work, and Families Angela Hattery, 2001. This study of 30 mothers looks at the varying ways women balance work and family life. It is carried out through intensive interviews and the data is examined from several theoretical standpoints including structural theory, motherhood theory, and feminist theory. A supplemental text for graduate and advanced undergraduate courses in Family Studies Programs and Women's Studies programs. U.S. News and World Report, 2007 New Urbanism, 2001 Mom the Chemistry Professor Kimberly Wozniak, Amber Charlebois, Renée Cole, Cecilia Marzabadi, Gail Webster, 2018-07-28. When is the right time? How can I meet the demands of a professorship whilst caring for a young family? Choosing to become a mother has a profound effect on the career path of women holding academic positions, especially in the physical sciences. Yet many women successfully manage to do both. In this second edition, which is a project of the Women Chemists Committee (WCC) of the American Chemical Society (ACS), 40 inspirational personal accounts describe the challenges and rewards of combining motherhood with an academic career in chemistry. The authors are all women at different stages of their career and from a range of institution types in both tenure and non-tenure track positions. The authors include women from different racial and ethnic backgrounds who became mothers at different stages of their career and who have a variety of family structures. Aimed at undergraduate and graduate students of chemistry as well as postdoctoral fellows and early career faculty, these contributions serve as examples for women considering a career in academia but worry about how this can be balanced with other important aspects of life. The authors describe how they overcame particular challenges but also highlight aspects of the system which could be improved to accommodate women academics and particularly encourage more women to take on academic positions in the sciences. Union Agriculturist and Western Prairie Farmer, 2005
