Re-envisioning Organizations through Transformational Change Poornima Madan, Shruti Tripathi, Fehmina Khalique, Geetika Puri, 2022-12-28. The journey towards the future of work was greatly accelerated due to the COVID pandemic. Some changes have altered the functioning of the business world forever. Against the backdrop of these alterations, variations, and modifications, this book presents and analyzes three crucial factors: work, workforce, and workplace, and their transformation into new-age organizations for meeting its customer expectations and long-term strategic goals. Companies must focus on ways of deployment of policies and practices that meet the business needs from the perspective of external changes. To achieve this goal, the organizations must realign their stakeholders and indulge in critical thinking by looking deeply into factors responsible for bringing about this transformational change. Re-envisioning is the current critical need for organizations to thrive; they must incorporate best practices to beat the competition and add value to their existing HR processes. This book clearly presents the practices and policies of successful organizations through the contribution of industry leaders. This book helps you understand the dynamism of work, workforce, and workplace that exist in organizations, as well as the challenges these organizations face and their impact on business practices. The authors cover these broad areas because of the need to diversify and promote organic, inclusive growth. Essentially, re-envisioning our organizations is the new normal. Organizations must leave the shackles of what might have been and look to what they can be. Stakeholders, employees, and the environment have been drastically altered, and organizations must change accordingly to survive. What now matters is how much an organization re envisions itself and how it deals with all that is happening , Making a Difference Rebecca Meehan,John Sharp,2023-08-31 Making a Difference Careers in Health Informatics addresses everyday questions from people interested in working in health informatics Typically this includes people who work in health care computer and technology fields information science finance insurance and related areas The book aims to tell students about various jobs that exist in the health informatics field what credentials they need to qualify for those jobs and a brief description about what people in those roles tend to do every day As faculty members teaching in a Master of Science in Health Informatics program the authors say that they are fortunate to have eager bright and talented graduate students who are invested in related health informatics areas This could be their experiences in medicine nursing clinical care software engineering finance business library science data science or caregiving Common questions we hear from our students that may be similar to questions among readers include what jobs are out there what can I do with this degree or what does a health informatics specialist do This book aims to answer some of these questions with a look into a day in the life of people working in this field The book examines career options roles and skill sets important in health informatics across 6 related industries We want readers to realize that their skills and interests can apply in many areas of the field not exclusively hospitals This book highlights 6 unique work segments hospital systems long term care health IT consumer health organizations government consulting and payer insurance companies into which readers may look to expand their career opportunities The hope is that this book will provide insight into career opportunities students and professionals may be qualified for and interested in but simply not aware of Hiring managers and human resource professionals across the stakeholder groups across the stakeholder groups may also find the book helpful in learning about other roles that may benefit their organizations
