Caesareans An Explanation And Preparation:

Caesareans Elliot Elias Philipp,1988 WHO recommendation on vaginal preparation with antiseptic agents for women undergoing caesarean section ,2021-06-18 While the evidence on vaginal preparation before caesarean section was largely derived from trials using povidone iodine benefit was demonstrated overall for any antiseptic either povidone iodine or chlorhexidine gluconate versus no antiseptic Included trials used varying concentrations of chlorhexidine gluconate 0.05% to 0.25% or povidone iodine 1% to 10% and the base aqueous or alcohol was not described However the Guideline Development Group agreed that alcohol based antiseptic solutions should not be used for vaginal preparation because of concerns around irritation of mucosa This recommendation pertains to all women undergoing caesarean section regardless of their baseline risk of infectious morbidity following surgery i.e. for caesarean section in women before or during labour and women with intact or ruptured membranes Whilst available trials were not clear on the timing of vaginal preparation relative to the caesarean section the Guideline Development Group suggested that vaginal preparation should be performed as close to the start of caesarean section as possible e.g. directly following preoperative urinary bladder catheterization to minimize the woman's discomfort
