Damascus Nights:

Damascus Nights Rafik Schami, 2014-08-08 Rafik Schami's award winning novel In the classical Arab tradition of tale telling here is a magical book that celebrates the power of storytelling delightfully transformed for modern sensibilities by an award winning author The time is present day Damascus and Salim the coachman the city's most famous storyteller is mysteriously struck dumb To break the spell seven friends gather for seven nights to present Salim with seven wondrous gifts seven stories of their own design Upon this enchanting frame of tales told in the fragrant Arabian night the words of the past grow fainter as ancient customs are yielding to modern turmoil While the hairdresser the teacher the wife of the locksmith sip their tea and pass the water pipe they swap stories about the magical and the mundane about djinnis and princesses about contemporary politics and the difficulties of bargaining in a New York department store And as one tale leads to another and another all of Damascus appears before your eyes along with a vision of storytelling and talk as the essence of friendship of community of life A sly and graceful work a delight to readers young and old Damascus Nights is according to Publishers Weekly a highly atmospheric pungent narrative The Book of the Thousand Nights and One Night, 1923 The book of the thousand nights and one night, rendered from the Arabian nights, 1929 The Book of the Thousand Nights and a Night Leonard C. Smithers, 1894 Damascus Nights Mounir R. Sa'adah, 1984 Born in Damascus the author relates his memories of that city during a critical period 1910 1925 Drawing from his childhood memory of story telling on the rooftops after dark he describes his family neighbors friends in their small neighborhood and in the larger city citing history fables parables and more Because that is how the Semitic mind expresses itself The Book of the Thousand Nights and a Night Leonard Charles Smithers, 1897 Supplemental Nights to the book of the Thousand Nights and a Night, 1888 Oriental Tales: The book of the thousand nights and one night, 1884 The Arabian Nights Entertainments, 1890 The book of the thousand nights and one night Arabian nights, 1882 The Arabian Nights' Entertainments James Mason, 1879 The Book of the Thousand Nights and One Night, 1901 Oriental Tales: The book of the thousand nights and one night, done into English by John Payne, 1901 Supplemental Nights to the Book of The Thousand Nights and a Night Sir Richard Francis Burton, 1900 Inside the Night Ibrāhīm Naṣr Allāh, 2007 I could not believe that human beings could forget so easily Love and life sex and death childhood and oppression are Inside the Night Vivid moments of remembrance disparate yet interconnected come together to form the body torn but not broken of this novel Beginning with a scene of departure the two nameless narrators roam back and forth in time veering from childhood mischief to a Palestinian refugee camp massacre from ardent first love to necessary migration to an Arab oil country for employment from spirited adolescent fantasies to the grim reality of life in an Arab country whose claims to progress are mounted on the bent backs of its people A forest of interwoven tales and strange destinies Ibrahim Nasrallah's novel carves the history of a people over half a century into fragments that are poetic multi sensory and richly evocative

Inside the Night's self-contained freedom is a refreshing development in the corpus of Palestinian and human literature
