Zimbabwean Transitions Mbongeni Z. Malaba, Geoffrey V. Davis, 2007 This collection of essays on Zimbabwean literature brings together studies of both Rhodesian and Zimbabwean literature spanning different languages and genres It charts the at times painful process of the evolution of Rhodesian Zimbabwean identities that was shaped by pre colonial colonial and post colonial realities The hybrid nature of the society emerges as different writers endeavour to make sense of their world Two essays focus on the literature of the white settler The first distils the essence of white settlers alienation from the Africa they purport to civilize revealing the delusional fixations of the racist mindset that permeates the discourse of the white man s burden in imperial narratives The second takes up the theme of alienation found in settler discourse showing how the collapse of the white supremacists dream when southern African countries gained independence left many settlers caught up in a profound identity crisis Four essays are devoted to Ndebele writing They focus on the praise poetry composed for kings Mzilikazi and Lobengula the preponderance of historical themes in Ndebele literature the dilemma that lies at the heart of the modern Ndebele identity and the fossilized views on gender roles found in the works of leading Ndebele novelists both female and male The essays on English language writing chart the predominantly negative view of women found in the fiction of Stanley Nyamfukudza assess the destabilization of masculine identities in post colonial Zimbabwe evaluate the complex vision of life and reality in Charles Mungoshi s short stories as exemplified in the tragic isolation of many of his protagonists and explore Dambudzo Marechera s obsession with isolated threatened individuals in his hitherto generally neglected dramas The development of Shona writing is surveyed in two articles the first traces its development from its origins as a colonial educational tool to the more critical works of the post 1980 independence phase the second turns the spotlight on written drama from 1968 when plays seemed divorced from the everyday realities of people s lives to more recent work which engages with corruption and the perversion of the moral order The volume also includes an illuminating interview with Irene Staunton the former publisher of Baobab Books and now of Weaver Press Reading Marechera Grant Hamilton, 2013 Various understood as literary genius and enfant terrible of African literature Dambudzo Marechera s work as novelist poet playwright and essayist is discussed here in relation to other free thinking writers Considered one of Africa s most innovative and subversive writers the Zimbabwean novelist poet playwright and essayist Dambudzo Marechera is read today as a significant voice in contemporary world literature Marechera wrote ceaselessly against the status quo against unqualified ideas against expectation He was an intellectual outsider who found comfort only in the company of other free thinking writers Shelley Bakhtin Apuleius Fanon Dostoyevsky Tutuola It is this universe of literary thought that one can see written into the fiction of Marechera that this collection of essays sets out to interrogate In this important and timely contribution to African literary studies Grant Hamilton has gathered together essays of world renowned established and young academics from Africa Europe Asia and Australia in order to discuss the important literary and philosophical influences that course through Marechera's prose poetry and drama. From classical allusion to the political philosophy of anarchism, this collection of new research on Marechera's work makes clear the extraordinary breadth and quality of thought that Marechera brought to his writing. Grant Hamilton is Assistant Professor of English Literature at the Chinese University of Hong Kong. He is the author of On Representation: Deleuze and Coetzee on the Colonized Subject (Rodopi, 2011) as well as a number of articles on contemporary African postcolonial and world literatures.
