Dancing Feathers:

Dancing Feathers Christel Kleitsch, 1988      Yellowtail, Crow Medicine Man and Sun Dance Chief Thomas Yellowtail, Michael Oren Fitzgerald, 1994-03-15 Medicine man and Sun Dance chief Thomas Yellowtail is a pivotal figure in Crow tribal life As a youth he lived in the presence of old warriors hunters and medicine men who knew the freedom and sacred ways of pre reservation life As the principal figure in the Crow Shoshone Sun Dance religion Yellowtail has preserved traditional values in the face of the constantly encroaching diametrically opposed values of materialistic modern society Through his life story and description of the Sun Dance religion we can reexamine the premises and orientations of both cultures      The Mixtecs of Colonial Oaxaca Kevin Terraciano, 2004-07-01 A history of the Mixtec Indians of southern Mexico this book focuses on several dozen Mixtec communities in the region of Oaxaca during the period from about 1540 to 1750      White Mountain Apache Texts Pliny Earle Goddard, 1920      Tribal Dancing and Social Development Wilfrid Dyson Hambly, 1927      Along Navajo Trails Will Evans, 2020-03-30 A piece of Navajo history otherwise forgotten the first hand observations of a Mormon trader on the culture and art of his Navajo contemporaries The overwhelming interest of Will Evans proprietor of the Shiprock Trading Company in Navajo culture spanned a half century He shared his enthusiasm through frequent publication of portraits vignettes and essays he also compiled much of his writing into a book manuscript His subjects were his customers friends and neighbors their stories of historic events such as the Long Walk and their life as he understood it Evans s writings were colored by his uncommon friendship and familiarity with Navajo people but also by who he was a trader folk artist and Mormon Inspired by sand paintings Evans appropriated their sacred images for his own paintings of murals and everyday objects In his writing he preserved unique records of Navajo history and of individuals about whom little biographical information otherwise remains Much of that was based on what he heard from his Navajo acquaintances but it also drew on his direct observations and particular beliefs about the people their culture and their history Evans s granddaughter Susan E Woods collaborated with historian Robert S McPherson author of numerous books on Navajo and Four Corners history to prepare and publish Will Evans s manuscript which is illustrated with a remarkable and rare selection of photos from the collections of Evans and his colleagues      Dancing Feathers [text (large Print)] Christel Kleitsch, Stephens, Paul, 1994 Tafia leaves the reservation to attend her first pow wow and along the way gains an understanding of what being an Indian is all about      Anthropological Papers of the American Museum of Natural History, 1918      The Sentimental and Masonic Magazine, 1794      Myths and Tales from the San Carlos Apache Pliny Earle Goddard, 1918      History of the Bosjesmans, Or Bush People, 1847      American Anthropologist, 1924      The Dance Festivals of the Alaskan Eskimo Ernest William Hawkes, 1914 Paper based on observations on the ceremonial dances of the Eskimo in the Bering Strait district      An Anthropologist at Work Ruth Benedict, 2017-09-04 An Anthropologist at Work is the product of a long collaboration between Ruth Benedict and Margaret Mead Mead who was Benedict's student colleague and eventually her biographer here has collected the bulk of Ruth Benedict's writings. This includes letters between these two seminal anthropologists, correspondence with Franz Boas, Benedict's teacher, Edward Sapir's poems and notes from studies that Benedict had collected throughout her life. Since Benedict wrote little, Mead has fleshed out the narratives by adding background information on Benedict's life, work, and the cultural atmosphere of the time. Ruth Benedict formed her own view of the contribution of anthropology before the first steps were taken in the study of how individual human beings with their given potentialities came to embody their culture. In her later work, she came to accept and sometimes to use the work in culture and personality that depended as much upon social psychology as upon cultural anthropology. She came to recognize that society, made up of persons or organized in groups, was as important as a subject of study as the culture of a society. This volume, greatly enhanced by Mead's contributions, is a record of what was important to Benedict in her life and work. It is expertly ordered and assembled in a way that will be accessible to students and professionals alike.

Indigenous Aesthetics Steven Leuthold, 1998. What happens when a Native or indigenous person turns a video camera on his or her own culture? Are the resulting images different from what a Westernized filmmaker would create, and if so, in what ways? How does the use of a non-Native art-making medium, specifically video or film, affect the aesthetics of the Native culture? These are some of the questions that underlie this rich study of Native American aesthetics, art, media, and identity. Steven Leuthold opens with a theoretically informed discussion of the core concepts of aesthetics and indigenous culture and then turns to a detailed examination of the work of American Indian documentary filmmakers, including George Burdeau and Victor Masayesva Jr. He shows how Native filmmaking incorporates traditional concepts such as the connection to place, the sacred, and the cycles of nature. While these concepts now find expression through Westernized media, they also maintain continuity with earlier aesthetic productions. In this way, Native filmmaking serves to create and preserve a sense of identity for indigenous people.
