Dahlin, 2017 From 1863 to 1866 about 250 Dakota Indians mainly Sisseton and Wahpeton served as scouts for the U S military in eastern Dakota Territory Their assignment was to keep hostile Dakota from returning to Minnesota to kill settlers Over 600 whites had been killed in the U S Dakota War of 1862 And preventing a repeat of that was the objective of the scouting program The scouts performed a very valuable service one which could not have been done as effectively by any other group of people soldiers or otherwise While they were not able to stop all of the hostile Dakota from returning to Minnesota and killing some settlers and soldiers they did prevent many from doing so The scouts were honorable men who were serving during extremely trying times and under difficult circumstances and conditions Now after 150 years have passed their story is told in great detail Sometimes people wait for a long time to get the recognition which is due them and now at last it is the time for the Dakota scouts to be so honored In addition to the broader history they are each listed here by name and when and where they served Back cover The Arikara Narrative of the Campaign Against the Hostile Dakotas, June, 1876 Orin Grant Libby, 1920 Divination and Prophecy in the Ancient Greek World Roger D.
