Dam Rivers Damn People Development And Resistance In Amazonian Brazil:

Dam the Rivers, Damn the People Barbara J. Cummings, 2013-11-05 The Brazilian Amazon is the largest area of tropical rainforest in Latin America Brazil is that continent's most rapidly developing country The Amazon is at the heart of the conflict between conservation and development between people and power and between heritage and modernisation In the name of development the powerful are colonizing the forest The greatest new threat comes from the massive hydro electric schemes which are being pushed ahead with little regard to efficacy the rights of the people or the survival of the forest Dam the Rivers Damn the People is about two of the most affected areas Balbina in Amazonas and the Xingu River in Para Barbara Cummings describes the plans which the state attempted to keep secret the extent to which these projects will destroy the forest the consequent dispossession of the people of the forest and above all their growing resistance She shows how the outcome of their fight affects us all Originally published in 1990 Dam the Rivers, Damn the People Barbara J. Cummings, 1989

Dams, Displacement, and the Delusion of Development Allen F. Isaacman, Barbara S. Isaacman, 2013-04-10 Cahora Bassa Dam on the Zambezi River built in the early 1970s during the final years of Portuguese rule was the last major infrastructure project constructed in Africa during the turbulent era of decolonization Engineers and hydrologists praised the dam for its technical complexity and the skills required to construct what was then the world's fifth largest mega dam Portuguese colonial officials cited benefits they expected from the dam from expansion of irrigated farming and European settlement to improved transportation throughout the Zambezi River Valley to reduced flooding in this area of unpredictable rainfall The project however actually resulted in cascading layers of human displacement violence and environmental destruction Its electricity benefited few Mozambicans even after the former guerrillas of FRELIMO Frente de Libertação de Moambique came to power instead it fed industrialization in apartheid South Africa Richard Roberts This in depth study of the region examines the dominant developmentalist narrative that has surrounded the dam chronicles the continual violence that has accompanied its existence and gives voice to previously unheard narratives of forced labor displacement and historical and contemporary life in the dam's shadow The Struggle for Accountability Jonathan A. Fox, L. David Brown, 1998-08-19 After a history of funding environmentally costly megaprojects the World Bank now claims that it is trying to become a leading force for sustainable development For more than a decade nongovernmental organizations NGOs and grassroots movements have formed transnational coalitions to reform the World Bank and the governments that it funds The Struggle for Accountability assesses the efforts of these groups to make the World Bank more publicly accountable The book is organized into four parts Part I describes the NGOs and grassroots movements that are the book's central focus Part II presents case studies of four projects that provoked the emergence of transnational advocacy coalitions Indonesia's Kedung Ombo dam the Mt Apo geothermal plant in the Philippines Brazil's Planalto Amazon development project and the remarkable campaign of Ecuador's indigenous people to influence national economic policy that led to their participation in the design of a development loan Part III looks at the origins and politics of reform in four areas of broader World Bank policy the rights of indigenous peoples involuntary resettlement water resources and the World Bank's institutional reforms that are supposed to encourage public accountability In the last section the editors discuss issues of accountability within transnational coalitions and assess the impact of advocacy campaigns on World Bank projects and policies Contributors L David Brown Jane G Covey Jonathan A Fox Andrew Gray Margaret E Keck Deborah Moore Antoinette Royo Augustinus Rumansara Leonard Sklar Kay Treackle Lori Udall David A Wirth
