Daniel Libeskind Jadisches Museum Berlin:

Daniel Libeskind Bernhard Schneider, 1999 Scarcely any other contemporary building has been the focus of so much attention and heated discussion as the Jewish Museum in Berlin This guide to the museum's architecture sheds light on its symbolism as well as on the philosophy behind it The historic and social significance of this museum extends far beyond the bounds of the city Its already famous zigzag structure challenges the very way we regard architecture Jewish Museum Daniel Libeskind, 2011 Designed in the second half of the 90s the Jewish Museum in Berlin opened in September 2011 The modern architectural elements of the Libeskind building comprise the zinc facade described as An irrational and invisible matrix the Garden of Exile which attempts to completely disorient the visitor and represents a shipwreck of history the three Axes of the German Jewish experience and the Voids which refer to that which can never be exhibited when it comes to Jewish Berlin history Humanity reduced to ashes Together these pieces form a visual and spatial language rich with history and symbolism In the words of the architect The official name of the project is Jewish Museum but I have named it Between the Lines because for me it is about two lines of thinking organization and relationship One is a straight line but broken into many fragments the other is a tortuous line but continuing indefinitely In some way Libeskind imagines the continuation of both lines throughout the city of Berlin and beyond Jewish Museum Berlin Daniel Libeskind, 1999 Daniel Libeskind

The Museum 'Without an Exit' - Daniel Libeskind's Felix-Nussbaum-Museum in Osnabrück Sonja Longolius, 2005-07-18 Seminar paper from the year 2003 in the subject American Studies Culture and Applied Geography grade 1 University of Hamburg

Kunstgeschichtliches Institut course Hauptseminar language English abstract If I perish don t let my paintings die exhibit them While speaking these words in his Belgian exile in 1942 Felix Nussbaum did not know that he had only two more years to live until the terror regime of National Socialism would murder him and his wife Felka Platek in Auschwitz Being only forty years of age when murdered the artist seemed to have abandoned all hope after being forced to live in exile and under constant threat of discovery since 1933 Nevertheless this personal hopelessness did not include the destiny of his artwork for which Felix Nussbaum cared as long as possible The unpainted paintings of Felix Nussbaum demand nothing less than to become visible to the contemplating eye and so Daniel Libeskind built a museum in Osnabr ck to house the largest collection of Nussbaum s paintings as well as to create a profound place for the encounter of the future and the past and not only a testament to an impossible fate In July 1998 54 years after Felix Nussbaum s deportation to Auschwitz the museum opened its gates to the public The Museum without an Exit as Daniel Libeskind coined his building challenges the traditional idea of museums as Temples of Contemplation Libeskind insists on emotional and physical experiences evoked when entering the museum s space His difficult building does not allow visitors to be passive spectators since the museum does not simply offer space for distributing works of art Rather Libeskind s building urges people to get closer to the experience of Felix Nussbaum and hence sets new standards in regard of museum building

The Memorial Ethics of Libeskind's Berlin Jewish Museum Arleen Ionescu, 2017-02-20 This book is a detailed critical study of Libeskind s Berlin Jewish Museum in its historical architectural and philosophical context Emphasizing how the Holocaust changed our perception of history memory witnessing and representation it develops the notion of memorial ethics to explore the Museum s difference from more conventional post World War Two commemorative sites The main focus is on the Museum as an experience of the materiality of trauma which engages the visitor in a performative duty to remember Arleen Ionescu builds on Levinas s idea of ethics as optics to show how Libeskind's Museum becomes a testimony to the unrepresentable Other. Ionescu also extends the Museum's experiential dimension by proposing her own subjective walk through Libeskind's space reimagined as a literary museum. Featuring reflections on texts by Beckett, Celan, Derrida, Kafka, Blanchot, Wiesel, and Selma Meerbaum-Eisinger, Celan's cousin, this virtual tour concludes with a brief account of Libeskind's analogous healing project for Ground Zero. Disputed Memory Tea Sindbæk Andersen, Barbara Törnquist-Plewa, 2016-06-20 The world wars, genocides, and extremist ideologies of the 20th century are remembered very differently across Central, Eastern, and Southeastern Europe, resulting sometimes in fierce memory disputes. This book investigates the complexity and contention of the layers of memory of the troubled 20th century in the region. Written by an international group of scholars from a diversity of disciplines, the chapters approach memory disputes in methodologically innovative ways, studying representations and negotiations of disputed pasts in different media, including monuments, museum exhibitions, individual and political discourse, and electronic social media. Analyzing memory disputes in various local, national, and transnational contexts, the chapters demonstrate the political power and social impact of painful and disputed memories. The book brings new insights into current memory disputes in Central, Eastern, and Southeastern Europe. It contributes to the understanding of processes of memory transmission and negotiation across borders and cultures in Europe, emphasizing the interconnectedness of memory with emotions, mediation, and politics.

Symbolic Loss Peter Homans, 2000 Historically, many world cultures have linked three disparate phenomena: collective loss, mourning, and the construction of monuments and cultural symbols to represent the loss over time and render it memorable, meaningful, and thereby bearable. In a century of great loss, observers of western culture have commented on the decline of mourning practices and the absence of their associated rituals. The ten essays assembled here by Peter Homans represent in a genuinely interdisciplinary way the recent work of scholars attempting to understand this trend. Arranged in sections on cultural studies, architecture, history, and psychology, this accessible collection can serve as an introduction to the uses of mourning in contemporary cultures.
