

The background of the entire slide is a photograph of a rural landscape. In the foreground, there is a field of dry, brownish vegetation, possibly a field of dead corn or a similar crop. A rustic wooden fence runs across the middle ground, with a single post visible on the right side. The sky above is overcast and grey.

Debt And Dispossession Farm Loss In Americas Heartland:

Debt and Dispossession Kathryn Marie Dudley, 2000-04-15 Explores the social impact of the farm debt crisis of the 1980 s through interviews with members of an agricultural community

Global Reflections on Positionality in Rural Access to Justice Research Michele Statz, Daniel Newman, 2025-11-27 Offers a unique look at rural access to justice through a series of personal and professional reflections by leading scholars in the field

The Political Development of American Debt Relief Emily Zackin, Chloe N. Thurston, 2024-06-21 A political history of the rise and fall of American debt relief

Americans have a long history with debt They also have a long history of mobilizing for debt relief Throughout the nineteenth century indebted citizens demanded government protection from their financial burdens challenging readings of the Constitution that exalted property rights at the expense of the vulnerable Their appeals shaped the country s periodic experiments with state debt relief and federal bankruptcy law constituting a pre industrial safety net Yet the twentieth century saw the erosion of debtor politics and the eventual retrenchment of bankruptcy protections The Political Development of American Debt Relief traces how geographic sectoral and racial politics shaped debtor activism over time enhancing our understanding of state building constitutionalism and social policy

Hollowing Out the Middle Patrick J. Carr, Maria J. Kefalas, 2009-10-01 Two sociologists reveal how small towns in Middle America are exporting their most precious resource young people and share what can be done to save these dwindling communities In 2001 with funding from the MacArthur Foundation sociologists Patrick J Carr and Maria J Kefalas moved to Iowa to understand the rural brain drain and the exodus of young people from America s countryside They met and followed working class stayers ambitious and college bound achievers seekers who head off to war to see what the world beyond offers and returners who eventually circle back to their hometowns What surprised them most was that adults in the community were playing a pivotal part in the town s decline by pushing the best and brightest young people to leave In a timely new afterword Carr and Kefalas address the question so what can be done to save our communities They profile the efforts of dedicated community leaders actively resisting the hollowing out of Middle America These individuals have creatively engaged small town youth stayers and returners seekers and achievers and have implemented a variety of programs to combat the rural brain drain These stories of civic engagement will certainly inspire and encourage readers struggling to defend their communities

The Rural Midwest Since World War II J. L. Anderson, 2014-02-01 J L Anderson seeks to change the belief that the Midwest lacks the kind of geographic coherence historical issues and cultural touchstones that have informed regional identity in the American South West and Northeast The goal of this illuminating volume is to demonstrate uniqueness in a region that has always been amorphous and is increasingly so Midwesterners are a dynamic people who shaped the physical and social landscapes of the great midsection of the nation and they are presented as such in this volume that offers a general yet informed overview of the region after World War II The contributors most of whom are Midwesterners by birth or residence seek to better understand a particular piece of rural America a place too often caricatured misunderstood and ignored However the rural landscape has experienced agricultural diversity and major shifts in land use Farmers in the region have successfully raised new commodities from dairy and cherries to mint and sugar beets The region has also been a place where community leaders fought to improve their economic and social well being women redefined their roles on the farm and minorities asserted their own version of the American Dream The rural Midwest is a regional melting pot and contributors to this volume do not set out to sing its praises or by contrast assume the position of Midwestern modesty and self deprecation The essays herein rewrite the narrative of rural decline and crisis and show through solid research and impeccable scholarship that rural Midwesterners have confronted and created challenges uniquely their own Born in the Country David B.

Danbom,2017-10-01 Updated edition A balanced economic social political and technological history of rural America A splendid book rich with detail Agricultural History Review Through most of its history America has been a rural nation largely made up of farmers David B Danbom s Born in the Country was the first and is still the only general history of rural America Ranging from pre Columbian times to the enormous changes of the twentieth century the book masterfully integrates agricultural technological and economic themes with new questions about the American experience Danbom employs the stories of particular farm families to illustrate the experiences of rural people This substantially revised and updated third edition expands and deepens its coverage of the late twentieth and early twenty first centuries focuses on the changes in agriculture and rural life in the progressive and New Deal eras as well as the massive shifts that have taken place since 1945 adds new information about African American and Native American agricultural experiences discusses the decline of agriculture as a productive enterprise and its impact on farm families and communities explores rural culture gender issues agriculture and the environment traces the relationship among farmers agribusiness and consumers In a new and provocative concluding chapter Danbom reflects on increasing consumer disenchantment with and resistance to modern agriculture as well as the transformation of rural America into a place where farmers are a shrinking minority Ultimately he asks whether a distinctive style of rural life exists any longer in the United States A delightful story tracing the social history of U S farmers The book details the attitudes and social life of farm people how they looked at themselves and how the rest of society saw them Forum Constructing the Heartland Katherine Fry,2003 The author uses television news coverage of the 1993 Midwest flood as a case study to analyze the intersection of television news and nature with specific focus on how contemporary television news accounts of natural disasters borrow from alter and extend conceptions of nature as bound within certain geographic parameters Annals of Iowa ,2001 The American Economic Review ,2000 Illinois Issues ,2000 Agriculture and Human Values ,2003 Wisconsin Death Trip Charlotte Louise Quinney,2005
